To rush or not to rush? That was the question for many prospective fraternity and sorority members over the past few weeks of the semester, as students raced their decisions against the active recruitment schedule.

But time was not the only obstacle.

Have you ever found yourself walking on campus, wondering, "Where did all the squirrels go?"

They went to Bithlo, a community located approximately fifteen minutes east of UCF’s main campus.

Hawks, raccoons, skunks, muskrats, and opossums all help keep squirrel populations down, but campus authorities cannot rely strictly on nature to maintain order. Instead, officials hire specialists to trap and relocate the squirrels from campus grounds.

"I call TruTech to come out a couple times a year to take the squirrels because they are really popular," said Gary Campbell, maintenance superinten dent of the Student Union for the past seven years.

TruTech Inc., established in 1984, specializes in pest, wildlife and animal removal. TruTech technicians set live traps and check them regularly to make sure the animals do not return to the property.

Campus officials request the squirrels be caught and relocated. TruTech releases the squirrel in designated, wildlife-rich locations in Bithlo. These areas provide a more suitable environment for the squirrels.

"Animal control is mainly due to Student Union concerns because students have reported that they attract animals or, evidently, intentionally feed the animals," said Jeff Hoh, director of Environmental Health and Safety.

The squirrels found on campus are Eastern Gray squirrels. They become exceptionally tolerant of people.

On-campus squirrels' diet often unnatural

On September 23rd, one of the campus squirrels on a wooden railing near Froggers got daring when it came to finding food. Some squirrels have been seen diving into trash cans. Bianca Badaro, a 20-year-old social science education major, saw a squirrel running with a bag of chips. "He was running at me like a ninja," she said. Devon Dankle, a 20-year-old social sciences education major, has been a UCF student for a few weeks. "That squirrel doesn't bother me at all," Dankle said.

A squirrel's diet varies by season, but a typical, healthy diet for squirrels consists of seeds, nuts, berries, insects and buds. Squirrels have the tendency to bite through electrical wires. Not only is this a potential fire hazard, but it is also harmful to the squirrels. In many cases, squirrels have been found electrocuted in the woods, electrocution is not an area for squirrels to reside.

Punt returner excels for USF special teams

Brian Murphy

Sept. 7, 2005: It would turn out to be the final cut in streaming filled with 17 wounds for the UCF football team, but not before one final slash. On that night, the South Florida Bulls beat the Golden Knights in the team's first all-time meeting, 53-44. The Bulls' running game silenced and directed the Knights for 326 yards.

"I think last year we were over there and I thought USF hit us in the face and we never responded, right from the first stage," coach George O'Leary said. "They came out and they attacked us and we didn't take the challenge.

The following week, the Knights would leave the Marshall Thundering Herd and UCF's football program hadn't been the same since. With some culture of how to win now surrounding the Knights, how will they face the weekend and rate it based on this night means you have to give him full points in the weekend and rate it based on how the Knights will look to see another all-defense battle.

The 12th-ranked Cardinals lead the nation in scoring (66.9) and yards (557) after opening with a pair of losses over Kentucky and Temple.

Still, Wright says the No. 3-ranked Hurricanes, who have won 22 straight games when scoring 30 points or more, will be ready.

"They want to be in a championship," Wright said. "I think they feel like that's their game, going out and scoring points on offense and hope that their defense can hang in there with a good turn."

"I think our defense is good enough to go out there and stop them and I think we're good enough to go out and perform, not just today," Wright said.

But so far, the Miami passing game hasn't exactly been what Wright would like to see.

Wright has completed 81 of 149 passes in two games for the Hurricanes (2-0), but only has 298 yards, with one touchdown.

CORAL GABLES — Kyle Wright was a scout-team quarterback in his redshirt赛季 when Louisville came to Miami two years ago for a game that quickly turned into an epic offensive showcase.

From the sidelines, Wright watched the score climb for 938 total yards, 507 of those by Louisville, in a matchup where Miami rallied from a 17-point down before winning 41-38.

"There wasn't much defense," Wright said.

And when the Hurricanes visit Louisville on Saturday afternoon, Wright figures it's time for the Cardinals will want to see another all-defense battle.

The 12th-ranked Cardinals lead the nation this season in scoring (66.9) and yards (557) after opening with a pair of losses over Kentucky and Temple.

TIME TO REGR pla"
O'Leary grades offensive line performance as a 'D'

Against the Bulls this year? Here are the key matchups to watch:

When UCF has the ball:
Key matchup: The UCF offensive line versus USF defensive end George Selvi.

This is not a secret, and it probably won't be a surprise. In Selvi's 2008 season, he had 13 tackles for a loss, 5.5 sacks, and 20 quarterback pressures. After working hard in the off-season, Selvi looks ready to explode.

UCF head coach George O'Leary said that the line is a key factor in the Knights' success. "If we can get movement at the line of scrimmage, we have a chance to beat any team," he said.

The biggest challenge for Selvi will be taking on George Grothe, who is the most experienced offensive lineman on the Knights. Grothe has started every game this season and is known for his ability to block and run with the ball.

Key matchup: Matt Grothe versus #18 Lance Thompson.

Thompson is one of the top linemen in the country, and Grothe will be the key to O'Leary's offensive strategy. Grothe is expected to make a combined 10-12 tackles.

The Knights have averaged 21 points per game, and with Grothe in the lineup, they could push that number higher.

When USF has the ball:
Key matchup: LU quarterback Ryan Smith versus USF defensive back E.J. Wilson.

Wilson is a key player on the USF defense, and he will be tasked with stopping Smith, who had 15 touchdowns and 1,163 yards last season.

The matchup will be a test of Smith's ability to make big plays, and Wilson's ability to shut him down.

Key matchup: USF running back DeShawn Dennis versus #22 Matt Meit.

Dennis is one of the top running backs in the country, and Meit will be looking to stop him. The matchup will be a test of Meit's ability to make tackles and Dennis's ability to break through the line.

O'Leary grades offensive line performance as a 'D'

The offensive line was a key factor in the Knights' 42-0 loss to Florida. According to head coach George O'Leary, the line was underachieved. Just ask coach George O'Leary.

"If I had to grade the offensive line, I would probably be a D," O'Leary said. "In fairness to quarterback Steven Moffett, I thought he was under pressure all game long but didn't have help." O'Leary said that the line needs to be on blocks, moving their feet and establishing the line of scrimmage.

He also mentioned that the group needs to be more cohesive. While this may be a problem for certain teams around the country, success should be no more a worry for the Knights.

Heading into this game, the Knights have the most experienced offensive line in college football.

This line was overpowered by the Gators Saturday, and even against Division II Valdosta State, the Knights running game could only muster 2.8 yards per carry and Moffett was sacked three times.

But he leads the Bulls in tackles with 25, both coming in the same game against Florida International.

The line has recorded nine tackles against the Golden Panthers, five quarterback pressures and three sacks.

With FIU running back Alex Smith expected to come off the bench, USF is expected to use UCF on an even plane, and Selvi said that he can absolutely shut down the running back.

On Saturday, the Bulls limited the Gators to 26 yards on 31 carries.

When USF has the ball:
Key matchup: UCF defensive back Matt Grothe versus #18 Lance Thompson.

Grothe will be the third key defender with his ability to line up against one of the best receivers in the country, while UCF will have to stop the running game with a young and inexperienced line.

Grothe was one of the top defensive players in the country last year, and he is expected to have a strong season.

"He's a physical guy, he's a smart guy, he's a good football player," O'Leary said. "He's a guy that we really need on our team."
Dear Golden Knights,

I want to take a moment to thank the student-body for their outstanding support of our football program.

You kept the momentum going from last season and this was evident at the Villanova game.

With ESPN nationally televised games, this season and next, the game day atmosphere at the Citrus Bowl and at Brighthouse Networks Stadium will soon be known across the nation as one of the best in college football.

You can take great pride in knowing that you play a big part in our football program and have a key role to play each and every Saturday. We want our stadium to be known as one tough place to play, as well as a first-class venue for our visiting fans.

College football is a great game and with your help we will continue to build a strong tradition at UCF.

Monday's win over Florida A&M, Miami quickly went back to the run.

"We're down 10, and we have to do a good job of playing the field," said Petino, whose team has won 17 of its last 18 home games. "They're going to come in and try to throw the ball down the field, which they do very well. They're very fast."

Miami didn't take very many deep-ball chances against Florida State in its season-opening loss, something Hurricanes coach Larry Coker said was partially due to the weather; gusty winds swirled in the second half of that game, prompting the Hurricanes to rely more on the run. Then on Saturday against Florida A&M, Miami quickly built a big lead primarily by running the ball, so the Hurricanes had no need to throw deep much after that.

But against Louisville, a couple of big plays could make all the difference. "Myself and the wide receivers, we want to get some connections deep down the field and get some touchdowns," Wright said. "And I think we'll be able to do that in this game from what I've seen on film.

"That's what makes an offense exciting and makes people want to watch.""

MOVIE REVIEW

Last Kiss unfocused, faithful to original

By STEPHEN KUPISH

In his directorial debut — based on his own memoir — Stephen Kuplitz’s Last Kiss is a compelling, genuine, and often heart-wrenching tale of young love, lost and found. It stars Topher Grace and Rachel Bilson as two California teenagers who fall in love in 1987.

Most of the material in this film is based on Kuplitz’s journal entries, and the film sticks fairly closely to it. When the two characters first meet, they are clearly smitten with each other. Their relationship is portrayed in a way that feels authentic, even if the story’s more melancholic elements feel formulaic.

The performances of Topher Grace and Rachel Bilson are strong, and their chemistry is palpable. Grace, in particular, is a revelation as a young man struggling with his sexuality, and Bilson is appealing as the girl who loves him.

The film is set in a time when music mattered, and the soundtrack is a delight, featuring songs like “I’m So Lonesome I Could Cry” by Hank Williams and “I Can’t Help Myself (Sincerely)” by Four Tops.

Still, for all its strengths, the film isn’t without its flaws. The story’s conclusion is a bit of a letdown, and the film sometimes struggles to find its footing, especially in its final act.

Overall, Last Kiss is a sincere and well-intentioned film, but its unfocused narrative and some awkward tonal shifts prevent it from being a true classic.
