Parking problems pester students

At home football games, student drivers have the option to park in student-only lots near the Citrus Bowl. Traditionally, these parking lots have been available to the UCF vs. USF game; however, students have noticed that the lots have been barricaded when they arrived, making no way to get inside.

"If we can't park, they should just leave the road blocked off with cones and cops," Embrey said. "It looks like they turned left into the area but they didn't realize people were there. They turned off and went straight. We couldn't get through."

Police officers and volunteers were working to help students get into the parking spots. Delanois said that if anyone was denied entry, they would circle the parking lot to try to get through.

"The parking lots sometimes do not accommodate everyone, so they are someone through the back door after we sorted them out," Embrey said. "I checked the hangtag area about five times to try to get through."

Harmonizing has never sounded so good

Campus a cappella group to perform first UCF concert

Using their voices as instruments and singing in harmony, Contemporary A Cappella is a new musical group with a different sound that can be heard at UCF.

A cappella is a style of performance that is conducted solely through vocal means.

"It's a form of music using no instruments, and it is the oldest kind of music," said 20-year-old junior Abigail Stangl, a member of Contemporary A Cappella. "It's a form of music we think about when we're thinking about ancient times and the roots of our culture.

"Our music is very different from yours. It's a form of music that is more expressive than any other type of music," Stangl said.

Orlando gets $1 billion face-lift

New Magic stadium, performing arts center, Citrus Bowl to help city grow

Buddy Dyer said.

"The Magic had long sought a new arena, arguing that the 17- year-old TD Waterhouse Centre doesn't offer the money-making amenities other NBA teams enjoy. Previous efforts, even at renovation, failed because the tourist economy dropped off following the Sept. 11, 2001 terrorist attacks. The Magic said they would start building in the next 3-6 months and had raised $80 million."

It took $125 million to get in, and the aging Florida Citrus Bowl, which hosts two big college bowl games, but is losing its primary tenants, UCF, when the school opens up an on-campus football stadium next year.

"Downtown Orlando is beginning to look like a renaissance that our country, have experienced," Orlando Mayor Buddy Dyer said.

2006. It's planned to feature an 18-story hotel, a 4,000-seat amphitheater, and a 5,000-seat arena for the Orlando Magic, a renovated TD Waterhouse Centre, which hosts big college bowl games, but is losing its primary tenants, UCF, when the school opens up an on-campus football stadium next year.

Between the stadium would be completed in several phases to the stadium can continue to host the Capital One and Champs Sports bowls, and Florida Classic, which yearly features visits Florida A&M University and Bethune-Cookman College.

Government finds spinach safe to eat

Farmers still worry about the industry's future

Relieved farmers say they are heartened by the government's announcement that it's safe to eat some spinach, but they fear scrutiny on their industry's future, knowing it may take time to win back public confidence.

During the two-week warning about E. coli in fresh spinach, growers said they remained the safety of their operation, ungathered on the suffering of the 18 people sickened and one who died, and provided significant losses because they watched crops go waste. "Everybody is looking to regroup," said Tonya Thomas, with industry group Alliance for Food and Nutrition. "It's too early to tell how hard the industry was hit, but aggregate experts said unprecedented economic damage was likely.

All California, whose three-quarters of all domestically grown spinach is harvested. Farmers could end up losing $100 million in losses, according to researchers working with Western Growers, which represents produce farmers in California and Arizona.

"Last year's spinach crop in California was valued at $105.8 million, and each acre lost amounts to roughly $3,000 for the farmers. The government gave a voice to the industry's coordination to the industry in Friday with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Investigators seeking raw spinach is now "as sure as it was before the warning." But the warning remains in place for spinach recalled by Natural Selection Foods LLC of San Juan Bautista, which owns 25 brands are in 187 people sickened. Now E. coli in fresh spinach is harvested. Thirty thousand people lined the Georgia Dome in Atlanta Saturday night to see historic moments as former Vice President Dan Quayle, the 40th president of the United States, accepted his party's vice presidential nomination. The crowd roared as Quayle entered the stadium to music and acknowledged the support of the Republican Party and the nation."

MISA, Hillel will hold services, events to get students involved

Yom Kippur morning services will be held at the Fairwinds Alam Hall Center beginning at 10 a.m. Afternoon and concluding Neilah services will begin at 5:30 p.m. and a free Break-The-Fast will be held at 7:30 p.m., services to follow.

Canister Jason Rosenwill will lead Hillel services. "Hillel is believed to have been founded in the first century B.C.E. and it is said that the purpose of Hillel is to provide a place where students can explore and celebrate Jewish life and culture." said Daniel Heron. Heron said, "We are continuing to look for people that want to join our group."

Yom Kippur is a day devoted to communal repentance for the sins committed over the course of the previous year," said Howard Horowitz, Florida professor and author of the "New York Times" bestseller, "The Crime Syndicates of America." Horowitz described Sukkot as a "celebration of life and a celebration of a new beginning." Horowitz said, "It is the most significant day in the Jewish calendar." Horowitz will be holding an open house at the Student Center on Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the MSA area. Horowitz's talk will cover the history of Sukkot, its significance, and the different ways it is celebrated around the world.

The traditional three-week period of penance and repentance begins on Yom Kippur. During this period, Jews fast from sunrise to sunset, refrain from eating, drinking, and engaging in sexual activity. The fast is one of the most important traditions observed by Jews.

On Yom Kippur, Jews observe a 25-hour fast that begins at sundown and continues until after the next sunrise. The fast is not easy, and many Jews in the West do not observe it, but many Jews in the Middle East do. The fast is a time of reflection and repentance, and it is observed by Jews throughout the world.

Yom Kippur is also a time for Jews to celebrate their faith and their culture. Jewish communities around the world hold services and special observances on Yom Kippur. In Israel, Yom Kippur is a national holiday.

The traditional Yom Kippur services begin at sundown on the first day of Yom Kippur, and continue through the night until the next day, which is the second day of Yom Kippur. During the services, Jews will gather in synagogues and pray for forgiveness from God. The services are intense and emotional, and are a time of great introspection for Jews.

In addition to the Yom Kippur services, Jews will also hold special services and events to celebrate the holiday. These may include special meals, special prayer services, and special observances.

Yom Kippur is a solemn and holy day for Jews, and it is a time for Jews to reflect on their lives and their relationships with God. It is a time for Jews to seek forgiveness and to make amends for their wrongs.

Yom Kippur is a time of great importance for Jews, and it is a time of great significance for the Jewish community. It is a time of great reflection and introspection for Jews, and it is a time of great beauty and joy for Jews.

Volleyball falls to C-USA for Southern Miss in five games

VICTOR ANDERSON

For the second straight home match, UCF loses in five games versus a conference foe.

In sports as life, we are not measured by how many times we fall, but how many times we stand up.

If that is the case, then this version of UCF will stand strong.

UCF has earned the respect of conference foes and have continued to work hard and get better every day.

The Knights have proven that they are a team to be reckoned with and are ready to take on the next challenge.

The results are another story and show that UCF's performance is inconsistent.

The matches are full of highs and lows, with moments of brilliance and periods of struggle.

But through it all, the Knights have shown resilience and determination.

UCF's performance against Southern Miss was a教 lesson in inconsistency, with strong moments followed by letdowns.

The Knights need to focus on their consistency and work on refining their skills.

UCF's performance against Southern Miss was a reminder that every match is a new opportunity to learn and grow.

The Knights have the potential to be a force in the conference and beyond.

Staying focused and persistent will be key to realizing their full potential.

James makes most of his chance, now a starter

The American Football Conference USA is the second conference in rushing yards, rushing touchdowns, and rushing yards per game. After an averaging last week against Southern Mississippi, Torres has no where to go but up.

Obvious missing field goals, we cannot continue doing that, so I have that job up to both kickers.

Kenny Mayes, Q Wyoming 5-10, 170 lbs.

Smiley said, “He flies to the ball.”

Bradshaw poses a multi-threat to even the best defenses. Not only is he a quick back with the ability to outrun teams ... speed, Bradshaw can still get to the outside, he has the ability to sneak out of the backfield. With all these tools, Bradshaw is a formidable threat.

The Knights' linebackers have one wide receiver, Emmanuel Spann, as their leading receiver with 212 yards.

The offense of Marshall UCF beat the Conference USA's best scoring defense; the team's defense can be overcome. Although they have faced ranked competition like West Virginia and Tennessee, the Herd have allowed an average of 32.2 points per game this season, tied for ninth in C-US.

The Knights have one wide receiver, Mike Walker, has 69 receptions.

For Marshall, sophomore wide receiver Emmanual Spann and tight end Coby Slade have accounted for nearly half of the Thundering Herd's passing offense, combining for 269 of the team's 569 passing yards.

The defense as a whole has been working in practice on flying to the ball-carrier and improving the overall tackling on each play.

The Knights will be able to put a football team to cheer on Wednesday at 2 (Bright House Network).

The offense may have faced a second threat in Junior Herd's key matchups including Keyes in finding him wherever the ball has gone this season. With the exception of problems for the Thundering Herd's defense, he might be able to do it, "No. 25 sticks out the most," Smiley said. "He flies to the ball."

"He looks like a receiver. He has run big hands and does things real well. I am glad to see him come out," said O'Leary.

The Knights will be able to put a football team to cheer on Wednesday at 2 (Bright House Network).

The offenses of Marshall and UCF share a couple of things in common. First, they both use the run to set up the pass. Second, the Herd get more yards on the ground rushing 383 yards than they do through the air (164). The Knights recognize the concern will be in the presence of Herd running back Ahmad Keyes.

The Knights have one wide receiver with such a gap between the team's other wide outs in senior Mike Walker. He has caught 28 of the Knights 69 receptions.

Rutgers' Rice runs wild in win over USF

TAMPA — Ray Rice ran for 202 yards and two touchdowns, Friday night, leading No. 22 Rutgers to a 22-20 victory over South Florida in the Scarlet Knights' first game as a ranked team in 30 years.

Jerome Boykins kicked field goals of 40, 40 and 50 yards for Rutgers (4-1, 1-0 Big East), which is unbeaten through five games for the first time since 1976, thanks to USF C2-0, 1-0 falling out of the Top 25 with 13 seconds left.

Grove cracked the 25-yard touchdown pass to Fan Brattin, who gave USF a chance to send the game into overtime, but the quarterback's pass in the conversion attempt was deflected by a sliding Michael Hill in the left side of the end zone.

Rice matched a school record with his seventh consecutive 100-yard game, boosting his season total to 1,006 yards and 13 touchdowns. He scored on a 3-yard run in the first quarter to tie the game.

"I don't see any validation for us," Houston coach Art Briles said. "This was all disappointing. We just did a good job of getting close."

"It wasn't pretty," Briles said. "It was ugly at one point."

"We needed a win to get back on track," Boykins said. "Any talk of not being able to win the old Miami anymore."
Editorial:"

John McCain, is fatally flawed in his understanding of the Constitution because, his supporters argue, McCain's history of perfect intervention," is practicing a "doctrine of constitutional avoidance." McCain and his formal interpretation of the Geneva Convention makes complete sense, given the facts of the case. The Geneva Convention expands the meaning of the term "international humanitarian law" to include the protection of non-combatant civilians. The Geneva Convention defines civilians as "persons not actively participating in hostilities," which includes journalists, aid workers, and other non-combatants. Therefore, even if a person is not officially labeled as a civilian by the enemy, he or she is still entitled to the protection of the Geneva Convention. This interpretation is consistent with the spirit of the Geneva Convention and is intended to ensure that all non-combatants are protected from harm.

The Constitution of the United States provides for the separation of powers among the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government. This system of checks and balances is intended to prevent any one branch from becoming too powerful. The Supreme Court has the power of judicial review, which means that it can declare laws passed by Congress or actions taken by the executive branch to be unconstitutional. This power is necessary to ensure that the other branches of government do not exceed their constitutional powers.

The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of the detention centers at Guantanamo Bay. The Court has ruled that the detainees are not entitled to the same protections as civilians because they are not "enemy combatants," as defined by the Geneva Convention. However, the Court has also ruled that the detainees are entitled to certain basic rights, such as the right to a fair trial and the right to representation by counsel. These rights are guaranteed by the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment.

The Supreme Court has also ruled that the CIA's program of "rendition," in which suspected terrorists are captured and then sent to countries where they are not protected by the Geneva Convention, is constitutional. The Court has ruled that the CIA is entitled to use "extraordinary measures" to capture and interrogate suspected terrorists, even if those measures violate the Geneva Convention.

The Constitution does not provide for a single authority to make decisions about detention and interrogation policies. The Constitution provides for a system of checks and balances, with each branch of government having a role to play in ensuring that the other branches do not exceed their constitutional powers. The Supreme Court has the power of judicial review to ensure that the other branches do not exceed their constitutional powers.

President John Hitt refers to the student population as "nothing more than "consumers." His all-too-telling choice of vocabulary may in reference to a discussion on class size at UCF. The Board of Trustees was told by Provost and Executive Vice President Terry Hickey that there is no empirical data that suggests that as the number of students in a class size, the education of those students starts to diminish, or in other words, students learn just as well in a class of 75 students as they do in a class the size of 25 students.

Student Body President Mark White, one sole representative on the board, told them that the issue falls not on the university to provide smaller classes, but on the teachers. He does not think that there can be any debate that the level of learning goes down as our classes continue to grow. If White would take a simple stroll around school and speak to his fellow students, he is certain that they would demand smaller classes and would not ask questions whom he is working for with remarks like those.

What is a simple solution to the class size issue at UCF? Build more classrooms. Hite, more faculty members, UCF is currently building the Communication Centre where a Ron jack Stewart Shop will go, a GAP, and an Outback Steakhouse. It will not boggle in to see UCF build more and more retail space and continue to have classes in portables. What are we, as students, paying for? Are we paying for the teachers? Are we paying for the students? At the moment and we want to know what the university is supposed to exist to educate the students. Our university is supposed to educate the students. Is the mind-boggling to us to see a vote for building more classrooms. Hire more faculty members. Instead, last year's SGA presidential debate got cloistered away to a tiny room in the back of the Union.

For each election SGA, every student should go to far greater lengths to educate the student body about what is going on. Every election should be announced by posters and on the TVs in the Union where a Ron Jack Stewart Shop will go, a GAP, and an Outback Steakhouse. Instead we only see the usual advertisements for Coke and MTV.

For each election SGA should host events educating the student body about the candidates' positions, such as debates and open forums. Instead we only see the usual advertisements for Coke and MTV.

SGA, Future blew senate elections. During SGA elections everyone complains about the way candidates ran their elections, the way that students can't get to class without being delayed by people soliciting for weeks. Why is it that students can't get to class without being delayed by people soliciting for weeks? While the city is busy by anonymity, it is not ready for the sensitive issue of building more classrooms. The cause of the students' failure to educate the students is the university's failure to educate the students. We prepare you for a higher score on the GRE, GMAT, LSAT, MCAT or SAT... at a lower price. In most cases, our price is less than one-third of what you'll pay with most national test prep programs. So if you're preparing for the big exam is smart, preparing with UCF Test Prep is smarter. Call 407.882.0287 or visit www.testprep.ucf.edu.
