Anh Tran, 30, and Loe Tran, 36, were arrested and charged with misdemeanor battery after they were involved in the beating of a man in a parking lot at The Villages at Ashburn Club.

The whole scene around my eye is mashed up," said the victim, Doug Wilgo. "I can't even sleep flat on my back.

Police found Wilgo lying in a pool of blood early Saturday after being beaten by at least six men, some of whom were in combat. Several witnesses said they saw the men beating Wilgo and throwing him on his head after he fell.

"They were pounding, punching and kicking my head in — stomping on me," said Wilgo.

Although at least six men were involved in the beating, only two, Matthew Lilly, 19, of West Palm Beach, and Adam B aggression, 19, of Palm Beach Gardens, were charged with misdemeanor battery.

Wilgo was taken by ambulance to Orlando Regional Medical Center, where he was held an open house in the Art

The New York Times

Boulder, Colo. — Colin Ferguson, the prominent professor who has been accused of a shooting rampage that left 14 people dead, has been released on bail.

Ferguson, 49, was arrested after authorities received a tip that he intended to shoot up the university campus. He has been held in a county jail since his arrest on Saturday.

The shooting occurred on Friday at the University of Colorado Boulder, a public institution with more than 40,000 students. The campus remains on lockdown, and authorities have not released any details about the suspect or the investigation.

Ferguson is a well-known figure in the academic community, having published numerous works on science fiction and horror literature. He is known for his involvement in a number of organizations, including the Horror Writers Association and the Association of Science Fiction Scholars.

The shooting has sparked outrage and worry among students, faculty, and the wider community. The university has set up a counseling center and provided resources for those impacted by the tragic event.

The Boulder Police Department has not released any information about the suspect or the motive behind the attack. The investigation is ongoing.

In the aftermath of the shooting, the university has announced that it will offer counseling services to students and faculty affected by the tragedy. The campus community has come together in support of one another, and there have been calls for increased security measures at educational institutions.

The shooting has raised questions about gun control and mental health issues, and there is a growing call for more resources to be dedicated to these critical areas.

As the investigation continues, the university and the community work to come to terms with the devastating impact of this senseless act of violence.

O'Leary: Intensity needed, team missing leadership

By Brian Murphy

After the beat down that the UCF football team received Oct. 13, coach George O'Leary knew something had to change.

He said that he saw players not helping each other out, going through the motions and not taking responsibility for what happened on the field. So on Sunday he decided to take things into his own hands, and called a team meeting.

"I addressed the team as a whole that the sense of urgency in football and the intensity in football needs to pick up," O'Leary said. "We have a lot of players back from last year, but what I see missing is leadership within the team itself. It's hard when you have a lot of seniors that aren't practicing getting to lead leadership.

O'Leary stressed the importance of leadership by referencing the biggest game in college football last week, the Florida Gators versus the

Smarter player, fewer turnovers key for Golden Knights against Owls

Zack Moore

The football season has seen its fair share of ups and downs for the Golden Knights. After a disappointing loss to Pittsburgh, UCF is looking to bounce back against the Rice Owls.

The Owls are a tough opponent, but the Golden Knights have the potential to pull off an upset. The key will be minimizing turnovers and making smart decisions on the field.

"We have to be in the same position that we were last year playing for a conference championship and going to a bowl game," O'Leary said.

The Owls, on the other hand, are a CUSA opponent and an experienced team.

With the stakes high and the pressure on, the Golden Knights will need to bring their A-game if they hope to come out on top. The Owls have shown that they are a competitive team, and the Golden Knights will have to play with extreme intensity to secure a victory.

It's easy to single out one area as key, but that could play a pivotal role in the outcome.

While he is only 5-10, 170 pounds, Dillard leads the nation with 7.1 tackles per game. With his speed, there are few defensive backs that can keep up with him.

If the Knights continue to do things, but I am going to play defense. He has started every game this season, and has been a key to an offense that has been shooting itself in the foot. He has started every game.

Epcot's latest festival makes a worldly impression

Alas, it's that magical time of year. Not quite Christmas, not quite Halloween. But quite honestly, the food here puts both holidays to shame.

Welcome to the 11th Annual Epcot International Food and Wine Festival.

Rock 'n' roll bar bares all

Howl at the Moon a charm for anyone who's not afraid to let go

Arlie Zat

If you enjoy fine dining, relaxing music and a sophisticated ambiance, then clear of this place. Howl at the Moon, the eclectic and nationally known rock 'n' roll bar that just opened on International Drive in Orlando, is not for you. It prides itself on being "the most fun you will have with your shirt on." And sometimes, that's just plain embarrassing, as you will soon see it.

Jeff Bailey, video and event manager at Howl at the Moon, said the "old-school rock 'n' roll" is what makes the bar stand out from all the other bars on International Drive. "We're the only place that has bands indoors," Bailey said. "All other bars on the drive have their shows outdoors, which we think is the only way to do it. You can't see as much as you can indoors.

Howl at the Moon is known for its live music and nightly shows, featuring a variety of musical genres. The bar typically has one or two bands performing nightly, with a diverse selection of genre涵盖了。此外，该酒吧还以特色鸡尾酒和饮品而闻名，包括"冰浴"-当女孩呼吸时，整个世界都消失了等特色饮品。通过将音乐和表演相结合，Howl at the Moon成功地吸引了几乎所有类型的观众，从本地居民到游客，甚至是专业歌手和音乐人。无论你是为了工作还是享受，它都是一个理想的选择。
