Students promote UCF

HARRIET WERNER
校闻编辑

The UCF homecoming board knows giveaways can lead to attendance success, and this year it has hired two current students to provide new and innovative promotional items. At homecoming 2006 events, students will be receiving items such as Coach D'assy Novels, bell bracelets, handcuffs, inflatable fingers and eye blackout stickers, which are all innovations of the UCF student-designed company Dragon Apparel. Current UCF students Cedric Omdahl, a junior business administration major, and Mike Mollo, a junior biology major, are the founders, owners and staff of the marketing and promotional company Dragon Apparel, which has been official for about six months. After setting their sights on working with UCF, they approached Homecoming Marketing Chair Chloe Delhaut to create early

Straight-edgers find different way to fit in

NATALIE MARIA

Smith Park's Chili guy said, "There's a time and place for everything, and it's called college." The open-ended question what college students should hold dear. The experimental "party hard" lifestyle centered on consumption and hedonism. Of course, college students were asked in their current roles, but some students, known as "straight-edgers," choose to avoid the party-harder lifestyle completely. Instead, the straight-edger balances activism against all forms drugs, alcohol and patriotism sex.

The straight-edger lifestyle means seeing what music pushes as 'good' through commercial TV, film, magazines and more. Asked what makes a good song, said Nathan Johnson, a 20-year-old electrical engineering major, says the "addictive." Johnson has been in the industry for over a year. He didn't want to stop with the consequences that often result from drinking and drug abuse. As student Patricia, a 28-year-old student, agrees. Patricia says she has been influenced by the movement, but by his family. Patricia and her family has a long history of drug and alcohol abuse, and he did not want to go down the same path. "I try to keep myself safe from addiction by choosing to abstain," Patricia said.

Halloween holds many meanings

Students dress up, strip down, stay home

CHRISTINA JOHNSON • LUANA COLE

Halloween is still about dressing up -- or, in some cases, stripping down. Kimber Lohrke is a character in the film Mean Girls described as "the one night a year when girls can dress like a total b and no other girl can say anything about it." Student agrees. "Just call me Officer Nancy," says Terri Christmas, who was dressing up as a very police officer with fake net stockings and handcuffs. Sophomore Lecelle Johnson teaches 2-5-year-olds at a gymnastics studio that hosted a haunted house for its students, and she was requested to dress up as a bunny costume was a sexy police officer. "The little high-high bows even come with condom holders," Johnson said.

Digital media major Matthew Student said women were expected to dress suggestively on Halloween.
Around Campus

News and Notices for the UC Community

Fitness orientation
Recreation and Wellness Center will hold fitness orientations today from 3 to 6 p.m., with the initial orientation in Room 220.

These fitness orientations are scheduled to include lectures designed to introduce students to the mission and facilities of the recreation center.

For more information or to schedule an appointment, contact Shireen Gaskill at (407) 823-5206.

Resume workshop
A resume services and experience learning will hold a resume workshop today from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Counseling Center, Building 22.

These workshops are geared toward improving your skills in areas as diverse as social networking and effective communication.

For more information, contact Annie Ware at (407) 823-5234.

Skit
For the Wednesday edition, and lines are editor@ucfnews.com. Deadlines are 4 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Students must sign up in advance to participate.

For more information, contact Barry Marks at (407) 823-2811.

Career Services
Career Services and Experiential Learning will hold a workshop on how to improve your mood today from 9 to 10 a.m. in the Counseling Center, Building 22.

The workshop is aimed at improving your mood as well as strategies on how to feel happier and think more positively.

Students must sign up in advance to participate.

For more information, contact Annie Ware at (407) 823-5234.

SPOKETACULAR FOR ALL ON GREEKSTREET

Greeks hope holiday event brings more kids to college

KeLDA SEnor

News Columnist

Many people view the Greek community and college students in general, as self-centered young adults more concerned with planning ing parties than being of service to others. But standing in opposition to that view were more than 20 fraternal ities and sororities that joined forces Sunday to decorate their street and provide a safe trick-or-treating environment for local children.

Greek Row was the place to be this weekend as the Greek community came together to give back to society. Participants began setting up around 11 a.m. for the fourth annual Trick-or-Treat on Greek Street event, becoming the Boys and Girls Clubs of Central Florida and Big Brothers Big Sisters of Central Florida.

This event shows that the Greek community is interested in service and events in addition to social activities and school," said Emily Lattner, public relations director for TOTOGS.

At the event, little trick-or-treaters dressed as pirates, fairy princesses and other characters all turned out in hope of receiving the costume contest.

One young soldier took his holiday roadmap to the next level, dressing head-to-toe in Army fatigues and even decorating his face with brown paint. The heat of the afternoon sun, however, soon caused a massive meltdown.

TOTOGS’s many different cars, races and contests meant there was something for everyone to do. The Boys and Girls Clubs of Central Florida divided into teams for a dizzying game of seconds, played after each athlete had grown around several times, all of the reward of — what else —

the dunk tank became one of the more popular activities as the dunker bocked, panned to try their luck at the cost of these bulls for both. Meanwhile, the Delta Delta Delta sorority entered two of the younger attendees with a giant Vivreo wall.

TOTOGS was first established in 2000 by a group of Greek students interested in creating a safe environment for local neighborhoods and bringing the Greek community together. Since then, the event has functioned to bring attention and support from UCF and the local community.

"I think that the Greek community getting involved with the surrounding UCF community is great," said Megan Ries, president of the Eta Kappa Chapter, Alpha Sigma and a partil-

ipant of TOTOGS.

Besides reinforcing to germans that going to college is a realistic and attainable goal, TOTOGS was also created to support local organizations dedicated to children and families.

Lanier said Boys and Girls Club and Big Brothers Big Sisters were chosen specifically for that reason. Furthermore, school officials said this was a responsibility for Greek organizations.

"It is so, outside of Greek organizations that Greeks do in their community," said Victoria Mangardi, vice president of public relations of the Greek Omicron chapter of Kappa Delta Sorority. "But activities like TOTOGS, many Greeks hope, will be a sign toward altering negative public opinions about the Greek community together.

The dunk tank became one of the more popular activities

as the dunker bocked, panned to try their luck at the cost of these bulls for both. Meanwhile, the Delta Delta Delta sorority entered two of the younger attendees with a giant Vivreo wall.

TOTOGS was first established in 2000 by a group of Greek students interested in creating a safe environment for local neighborhoods and bringing the Greek community together. Since then, the event has functioned to bring attention and support from UCF and the local community.

"I think that the Greek community getting involved with the surrounding UCF community is great," said Megan Ries, president of the Eta Kappa Chapter, Alpha Sigma and a partil-

ipant of TOTOGS.

Besides reinforcing to
germans that going to college is a realistic and attainable goal, TOTOGS was also created to support local organizations dedicated to children and families.

Lanier said Boys and Girls Club and Big Brothers Big Sisters were chosen specifically for that reason. Furthermore, school officials said this was a responsibility for Greek organizations.

"It is so, outside of Greek organizations that Greeks do in their community," said Victoria Mangardi, vice president of public relations of the Greek Omicron chapter of Kappa Delta Sorority. "But activities like TOTOGS, many Greeks hope, will be a sign toward altering negative public opinions about the Greek community together.

The dunk tank became one of the more popular activities

as the dunker bocked, panned to try their luck at the cost of these bulls for both. Meanwhile, the Delta Delta Delta sorority entered two of the younger attendees with a giant Vivreo wall.

TOTOGS was first established in 2000 by a group of Greek students interested in creating a safe environment for local neighborhoods and bringing the Greek community together. Since then, the event has functioned to bring attention and support from UCF and the local community.

"I think that the Greek community getting involved with the surrounding UCF community is great," said Megan Ries, president of the Eta Kappa Chapter, Alpha Sigma and a partil-

ipant of TOTOGS.

Besides reinforcing to
germans that going to college is a realistic and attainable goal, TOTOGS was also created to support local organizations dedicated to children and families.

Lanier said Boys and Girls Club and Big Brothers Big Sisters were chosen specifically for that reason. Furthermore, school officials said this was a responsibility for Greek organizations.

"It is so, outside of Greek organizations that Greeks do in their community," said Victoria Mangardi, vice president of public relations of the Greek Omicron chapter of Kappa Delta Sorority. "But activities like TOTOGS, many Greeks hope, will be a sign toward altering negative public opinions about the Greek community together.

The dunk tank became one of the more popular activities

as the dunker bocked, panned to try their luck at the cost of these bulls for both. Meanwhile, the Delta Delta Delta sorority entered two of the younger attendees with a giant Vivreo wall.

TOTOGS was first established in 2000 by a group of Greek students interested in creating a safe environment for local neighborhoods and bringing the Greek community together. Since then, the event has functioned to bring attention and support from UCF and the local community.

"I think that the Greek community getting involved with the surrounding UCF community is great," said Megan Ries, president of the Eta Kappa Chapter, Alpha Sigma and a partil-

ipant of TOTOGS.

Besides reinforcing to
germans that going to college is a realistic and attainable goal, TOTOGS was also created to support local organizations dedicated to children and families.

Lanier said Boys and Girls Club and Big Brothers Big Sisters were chosen specifically for that reason. Furthermore, school officials said this was a responsibility for Greek organizations.

"It is so, outside of Greek organizations that Greeks do in their community," said Victoria Mangardi, vice president of public relations of the Greek Omicron chapter of Kappa Delta Sorority. "But activities like TOTOGS, many Greeks hope, will be a sign toward altering negative public opinions about the Greek community together.

The dunk tank became one of the more popular activities

as the dunker bocked, panned to try their luck at the cost of these bulls for both. Meanwhile, the Delta Delta Delta sorority entered two of the younger attendees with a giant Vivreo wall.

N. Korea agrees to resume nuclear disarmament talks

Pressure from China likely the deciding factor

TOM RAULI

In a surprise turnaround, North Korea agreed Thursday to return to six-nation disarmament talks just three weeks after telling the world by con­ducting an atomic bomb test. The breakthrough came after two sessions from China and a U.S. offer to discuss financial penal­ties already in place.

President Bush cautiously welcomed the deal and thanked the Chinese for bro­kering it. But he said the agree­ment wouldn’t withstand U.S. efforts to enforce sanctions adopted by the U.N. Security Council to punish Pyongyang for its Oct. 9 nuclear test.

He said there was still “a lot of work to do” and the U.S. would send teams to the region to “make sure that the current U.N. Security Council resolution is enforced.”

The ultimate goal is to get North Korea that had abandoned its nuclear weapon programs and her nuclear weapons in a verifiable fashion in return for a better way forward for her people,” the president said.

The unexpected agreement to restart the talks — before year-end, U.S. officials said — was announced after groups of students from North Korea’s Washington, D.C., embassy in Beijing, Tuesday. He said disarmament talks could begin as early as this month.

He said there was still “a lot of work to do” and the U.S. would send teams to the region to “make sure that the current U.N. Security Council resolution is enforced.”

The ultimate goal is to get North Korea that had abandoned its nuclear weapon programs and her nuclear weapons in a verifiable fashion in return for a better way forward for her people,” the president said.

The unexpected agreement to restart the talks — before year-end, U.S. officials said — was announced after groups of students from North Korea’s Washington, D.C., embassy in Beijing, Tuesday. He said disarmament talks could begin as early as this month.

He said there was still “a lot of work to do” and the U.S. would send teams to the region to “make sure that the current U.N. Security Council resolution is enforced.”

The ultimate goal is to get North Korea that had abandoned its nuclear weapon programs and her nuclear weapons in a verifiable fashion in return for a better way forward for her people,” the president said.

The unexpected agreement to restart the talks — before year-end, U.S. officials said — was announced after groups of students from North Korea’s Washington, D.C., embassy in Beijing, Tuesday. He said disarmament talks could begin as early as this month.
HIGHER EDUCATION

What's in the news at colleges around the country

High college costs causing students to drop out

NORMAN, Okla. — Sharp tuition hikes are forcing more low-income students to drop out, according to a new report by the National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education.

The report found that more than 400,000 students nationwide dropped out of college in 2015 due to tuition increases.

At the University of Oklahoma, tuition for the 2016-2017 academic year is set to increase by 3.5 percent.

The increase will bring the total cost of tuition and fees for in-state students to $12,870.

Some students have expressed concern about the rising costs and have decided to attend community colleges instead.

In response, Oklahoma City Community College has announced plans to increase its tuition by 2 percent, bringing the total cost to $4,992.

However, some students have criticized the move, saying it doesn't address the root cause of the problem.

NATION & WORLD

Keep current with headlines you may have missed

AGA approves sending space shuttle to repair Hubble

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — NASA will send a space shuttle to repair the telescope in 2008, a space shuttle Discovery mission would keep Hubble working until 2011, officials announced Tuesday.

The mission, likely launching in May 2008 using space shuttle Discovery, would keep Hubble working until 2011, officials announced Tuesday.

The telescope, which has been in service for 20 years, needs repairs to extend its life.

A statement from the local NASA administrator said the mission would be crucial for continuing scientific research.

Global study dispels some myths about sexual behavior

LONDON — The first comprehensive global study on sexual behavior was published Wednesday as part of a series on sexual and reproductive health by the British Medical Journal.

The study, based on data from 19 countries, found that younger people are more likely to engage in sexual activity, but that older people are more likely to report sustained sexual activity.

The study also found that men and women in the United States have similar sexual activity rates, but that younger people are more likely to report sustained sexual activity.

The study was conducted by the Kinsey Institute for Research in Sex, Gender, and Reproduction.

A statement from the institute said the study would help inform public policy and improve reproductive health.

A nationwide campaign urging parents to place limits on their children's sleep, launched over a decade ago, has made strides in reducing SIDS rates.

Still, two-thirds of the SIDS babies to the study were sleeping on their stomachs or sides when they died.

WASHINGTON — A new study published in the journal Pediatrics found that the ratio of punitive to compensatory damages — money awarded for harm done to her — in the case of Philip Morris is accelerating.

The study found that the ratio of punitive to compensatory damages is increasing, with the punitive damages increasing by a factor of 4.

Researchers also found that married people have the most sex, with nearly everyone in their sample reporting that they had sex with their partner at least once a month.

However, the study also found that married people have the most sex, with nearly everyone in their sample reporting that they had sex with their partner at least once a month.

The study was conducted by the Kinsey Institute for Research in Sex, Gender, and Reproduction.

CALL 407.882.TEST to speak with a representative about how Smarter Test Prep can help you achieve your goals.

We have the Best Seat in the House

That's the feeling you get from UCF Test Prep Courses. We prepare you for a higher score on the GRE, GMAT, LSAT, MCAT or SAT… at a lower price. In most cases, our price is less than one-third of what you would pay with most national test prep companies. So choose UCF Test Prep for the big exam, prepare with UCF Test Prep is smarter.
Some see holiday as excuse to party, dress provocatively

FROM A

"Women are choosing to dress that way, so it's not surprising," said Tony Snow, spokesman for President Bush. "It's the excuse for them to dress and say in ways that would be frowned upon anytime other day of the year."

"I think every girl has a provocative side," said Hallie Hallowdow, a junior student at the University of Central Florida. "I've never seen a girl in a mini-skirt before."

"I'd say there's a thin line between dressing that way and the fun students are having," said Matt McKinney, a sophomore at the University of South Florida. "I think it's important to dress in a way that allows students to have fun without being too risqué."

"I don't think there's anything wrong with dressing provocatively," said Jerry Quinn, a senior at the University of Miami. "It's just a way for students to express themselves."

"I think it's important to strike a balance between dressing provocatively and dressing in a way that is appropriate for the occasion," said Ian Constantine, a junior at the University of Southern California. "It's all about personal choice."
Among the Worries of the Business World: Drug Use, Alcohol, and Politics

By Amanda Christopher

The term "straight-edge" originated in the 1980s and was heard in a Minor Threat song with the same title. "Kir," as the center of the metal/punk scene, straight-edge says movies glorify drinking, drug use.

At the college level, he finds students' choices to abuse drugs and alcohol are heavily influenced by movies. "We've seen a whole terrible thing that's abused by many college students, taking their key from movies like American Pie and Animal House, which glamorize getting drunk," he said.

He prefers to not title himself "straight-edge," though he does follow the rules of the lifestyle: "I try not to place myself in a small, elite group," Pants said. "It opens up room for stereotypes and becomes a caricature of itself.

The reasons for abstention differ from person to person, and many insist they do not look down on others who choose to drink. "One's scene is about respect, not about putting people down because of the lifestyle they choose," Pants said.

The straight-edge music scene revolves around bands such as Call to Preserve, Deadlift, Still Time to Die, and Jussia. Call to Preserve exists on its Web site that its music is "not an attempt to crush anthems about faith, perseverance, friendship, loyalty, and the straight-edge lifestyle" and marks the red-cliff group Trample with the straight-edge "XOXO" symbol.

"Most Christian hardcore and metal bands are straight-edge but there are some bands that aren't. Christian that are straight-edge," said Derek Hunt, a 16-year-old health science junior.

In MacKay's lead singer of Minor Threat, a non-Christian group, started the straight-edge movement as a rebellion against the rock culture of the 1980s. His song, titled "Straight-edge" and focused on having better things to do than "hit around and smoke dope" or "laugh at the thought of eating ludes," because she saw the unhealthy song for the lifestyle.

MacKay has since admitted that he did not intentionally start the movement. Despite his intentions, his unofficial movement has spread.

In scenes or clubs, and sometimes in other public places, straight-edge marks their hands with a "X" to support the movement and the choice not to drink.

"They came from kids who were underage at shows who got in because they couldn't drink, and from there it just stuck with the scene," Johnson said.

The movement originated from the punk music scene but now is straight-edge but some in the straight-edge lifestyle do not identify with the music.

"Although that's where it got its origin, both hardcore and punk music has evolved over the years. I listen to hardcore with more metal influences, but I am not punk rock," said Jordan DeVries, an 18-year-old computer science major, via e-mail.

The concert events may not be difficult for those who are straight-edge, but when about college life with peers.

"They think I'm funny," Qazi said. "I get the 'Why are you here?' every now and then. I'm used to it."

Pants, however, avoids parties where he is the only one not drinking.

The party atmosphere might influence some college students who engage in party behavior, but not those who are straight-edge. "I don't have the desire," Qazi said. "I'm never really that hard for me to say no to alcohol.

"I believe that it requires discipline to stay straight-edge."

"It makes people think, it's like a thing of pride that you are proud of," Hunt said. "You don't want to give up on it."

Homecoming gets new products

By Nancy White

on in the promotional decision-making process, and gaining influence paid off.

"Online came to me in a very personal manner. We sat down and talked about what we wanted to do, and I was very impressed," Pants told us about his initial meeting with the student entrepreneur.

After a series of meetings and proposals, a deal was struck for Dragon Apparel to provide a portion of the highly popular products. The companies are given at various events such as Movie Scotia and Sip & Splash during homecoming week.

"We were able to get a small deal, and I'm sure it will generate a healthy profit, Caitlin said.

A portion of the business map have to be the ones who come up with a profit for Dragon Apparel because they are not just atypical oatmeal, who is still hungry, but also a type of person who is on diet and healthy, Caitlin said. "That's our goal to be the center of the business world, and we are able to do so with a core of students, who is still hungry, but also a type of person who is on diet and healthy, Caitlin said.

"That's where it got its origin, both hardcore and punk music has evolved over the years. I listen to hardcore with more metal influences, but I am not punk rock," said Jordan DeVries, an 18-year-old computer science major, via e-mail.

The concert events may not be difficult for those who are straight-edge, but when about college life with peers.

"They think I'm funny," Qazi said. "I get the 'Why are you here?' every now and then. I'm used to it."

Pants, however, avoids parties where he is the only one not drinking.

The party atmosphere might influence some college students who engage in party behavior, but not those who are straight-edge. "I don't have the desire," Qazi said. "I'm never really that hard for me to say no to alcohol.

"I believe that it requires discipline to stay straight-edge."

"It makes people think, it's like a thing of pride that you are proud of," Hunt said. "You don't want to give up on it."

Homecoming-themed design ads appear and promotion for the third time.

2005 Dragon Apparel, a young company started by UI students, provided these items.

"We look for 'big clutch,'" Darberton said. "We didn't want to just add all the accessory, especially with such a new company.

In addition to promotional items that will be given to stu-

McCain: Kerry should apologize

by Piece of Eight

with several one-liners, jok-

Derek Hunt, a 16-year-old health science junior, said.

"Most Christian hardcore and metal bands are straight-edge but there are some bands that aren't. Christian that are straight-edge," said Derek Hunt, a 16-year-old health science junior.

In MacKay's lead singer of Minor Threat, a non-Christian group, started the straight-edge movement as a rebellion against the rock culture of the 1980s. His song, titled "Straight-edge" and focused on having better things to do than "hit around and smoke dope" or "laugh at the thought of eating ludes," because she saw the unhealthy song for the lifestyle.

MacKay has since admitted that he did not intentionally start the movement. Despite his intentions, his unofficial movement has spread.

In scenes or clubs, and sometimes in other public places, straight-edge marks their hands with a "X" to support the movement and the choice not to drink.

"They came from kids who were underage at shows who got in because they couldn't drink, and from there it just stuck with the scene," Johnson said.

The movement originated from the punk music scene but now is straight-edge but some in the straight-edge lifestyle do not identify with the music.

"Although that's where it got its origin, both hardcore and punk music has evolved over the years. I listen to hardcore with more metal influences, but I am not punk rock," said Jordan DeVries, an 18-year-old computer science major, via e-mail.

The concert events may not be difficult for those who are straight-edge, but when about college life with peers.

"They think I'm funny," Qazi said. "I get the 'Why are you here?' every now and then. I'm used to it."

Pants, however, avoids parties where he is the only one not drinking.

The party atmosphere might influence some college students who engage in party behavior, but not those who are straight-edge. "I don't have the desire," Qazi said. "I'm never really that hard for me to say no to alcohol.

"I believe that it requires discipline to stay straight-edge."

"It makes people think, it's like a thing of pride that you are proud of," Hunt said. "You don't want to give up on it."

Homecoming-themed design ads appear and promotion for the third time.

2005 Dragon Apparel, a young company started by UI students, provided these items.

"We look for 'big clutch,'" Darberton said. "We didn't want to just add all the accessory, especially with such a new company.

In addition to promotional items that will be given to stu-

McCain: Kerry should apologize
Men enter tourney on hot streak

MELISSA HEYDOER
Staff Writer

With the Conference USA tournament starting Wednesday, the UCF Men's Soccer team wanted nothing more than to enter their first tournament game on a positive note.

Three positive notes later and the Golden Knights are ready for their first game in the conference tournament.

The Knights managed to end their regular season schedule with three consecutive wins against rivals Florida International, Stetson and Marshall.

Their winning streak began when a shot from FIU transfer Chris Andreu sailed past a diving Kyle Pope, record his first collegiate goal in the 31st minute and put the Knights to their third straight win, 4-2 over Marshall on Monday afternoon.

"It feels great. It's amazing to know that everyone gave their blood and sweat in this game. We were one unit out there, all battling for one another.

"We really needed those points to put us in better position as the regular season comes to a close. "With the league being so tight, points are very important. We really needed those points to put us in better position as the regular season comes to a close."

Despite the loss, the Golden Panthers held a 9-0 advantage in shots. Thomas recorded five saves for the Golden Panthers, while UCF's Brian Pope recorded four in the final stretch of his career at UCF.

THE KEY PLAYERS

19 ROBERTA PELARIDO
Position: Forward
Key Play: Scored the first and only UCF goal in Sunday's 1-1 tie with Tulsa.

26 SARAH DE LEON
Position: Midfielder
Key Play: Scored the first and only UCF goal in Sunday's 1-1 tie with Tulsa.

WOMEN'S SOCCER RECAP

Knights secure No. 2 seed in C-USA tourney after OT win, tie

NATHAN CURTIS

It was a weekend of double overtime and emotional roller coasters for the UCF Women's Soccer team.

With the Conference USA tournament starting Wednesday, the final two games would determine the No. 1 seed. For UCF to claim it, they would have to win on their own turf.

MELISSA HEYDOER
Central Florida Future
Victor Anderson

The Knights won their third straight match, defeating the Thundering Herd (5-17, 1-10) today, "It's nice to have a little winning streak going in right now," Coach Clinard said.

Although a win is likely for the Knights, however, as Marshall made the trip down to Florida, they had a chance to prove themselves to be not the friendliest of the nation's best teams.

Regardless C-USA Player of the Week, despite setbacks, and outside hitter Stephanie Andonova, Uganda, the Knights extended UCF's longest winning streak to six games including a 3-game sweep over Wednesday's opponent, Eastern Kentucky.

"I don't think we played our best game at all," Clinard said. "It didn't feel like we played very well.

"But, we just get out there and keep working every day," he added.

As a coach at UCF for six years, he has seen it all, and he's seen it happen. The Knights defeated the Mustangs (1-0) in the opening round of the net on an assist from sophomore Ryan Pope.

"I am extremely excited about making the Conference USA," Clinard said.

"I am very proud of the team for earning the No. 25 from about 100 different teams," he said.
In reference to the Pulitzer's article on Monday, I would like to make a small clarification. The Northern Ohio Superintendents' Association of YOUNGER TALENTS
Dinner is at the airport.

VICTOR B. HAMILTON

JERRY D. JONES

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and excellence in his field.

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young
teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and excellence in his field.

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young
teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and excellence in his field.

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young
teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and excellence in his field.

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young
teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and excellence in his field.

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young
teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and excellence in his field.

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young
teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and excellence in his field.

The Bonham, Ohio, native was a dynamic young
teacher who taught history and political science at the University of California, Berkeley. He died suddenly in 1968 at the age of 42, leaving behind a legacy of
dedication and excellence in his field.
DEEP DOWN, YOU KNOW YOU'RE ONE OF US.

For more information, visit CAPT Joergen or MGt Miguel at the Student Union South Plaza August 21-24 Or call 407-229-0873 (ext 5), 407-396-6100 Email: gmacbowl@gmac.com

For more information, visit MARINES.COM, or call 1-800-MARINES.

Club Paris is beginning on ALL NEW THURSDAY! YES ALL NEW THURSDAYS! The best DJs from the West Coast and South Florida will be spinning Top 40 all night and tearing the air waves apart with their precise blending, incredible remixes and hitting you with the hottest exclusives.

FREE DRINKS for all 21+ until MIDNIGHT! $2 domestics and 2 for 1 shots after Midnight! VIP guests enjoy $100 bottles of Grey Goose Vodka $100 Bacardi flavors or Rain Vodka $150 Bomb Bucket (Jagermeister bottle or Three Olives and six Red Bulls)

V.I.P. reservations 407.981.7500

GET INTO THE GAME!

You could win a 2007 Chevrolet! One student from this campus will win a $1,000 scholarship at the football game this week.

All MAC, WAC, and C-USA students can enter a sweeps for a chance to take part in an event to win a 2007 Chevy HHR or Chevy Cobalt.

SPECIAL EVENT - "Spirit Splash" Pep Rally at the reflecting pool on November 3 from 2:30p.m. - 4:30p.m.

GAME DAY EVENTS NOVEMBER 4

Come and show your support. Team GMAC will be at the Fanteur tailgate area (on the corner of Coyote and the Rio Grande) this Saturday, November 4 from 1:00p.m. - 4:00p.m. applying Golden Knights tattoos. While you're at the GMAC display, don't forget to register for the chance to participate in the GMAC Bowl Right Stuff Challenge on-field activity. The first 350 students to register will receive a GMAC Bowl T-Shirt. If you win the Right Stuff Challenge, you'll receive a $1,000 scholarship!

For more information, visit GMACFS.COM, or call 1-800-GMACFS.

© 2006 GMAC. All Rights Reserved. GMAC is a registered trademark. The Golden Knights and Chevy are registered trademarks of GM Corp. © 2006 GM Corp.