Find similar works at: https://stars.library.ucf.edu/centralfloridafuture

University of Central Florida Libraries http://library.ucf.edu

Part of the Mass Communication Commons, Organizational Communication Commons, Publishing Commons, and the Social Influence and Political Communication Commons

Recommended Citation

https://stars.library.ucf.edu/centralfloridafuture/2043

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the University Archives at STARS. It has been accepted for inclusion in Central Florida Future by an authorized administrator of STARS. For more information, please contact lee.dotson@ucf.edu.
Beautiful season

The Future recaps women's soccer's successful 2007 campaign — SEE SPORTS, A7

Go for the gold

Fantasy and controversy consume new releases

Golden Compass — SEE VARIETY, A8

UCF PD arrest former Buc WR

Predators player suspected in robbery

JESSICA SUNDAY
Sun Staff

An Orlando Predator and former Tampa Bay Buccaneers receiver was arrested by UCF Police Wednesday night in connection with a Pegasus Landing robbery.

According to UCF Police Department spokesperson Cpl. Jeff Conley, 20-year-old Robert Brusco was arrested for armed robbery and_mutex.

On Monday, Brusco was arrested for armed robbery and_mutex.

UCF loses children's hospital at Lake Nona

BOB RUDERSDYK
Sun Staff

On the wake of losing the Nemours' children's hospital at Lake Nona, the UCF College of Medicine is one step closer to earning preliminary accreditation after a site visit by a team that will report to the Liaison Committee on Medical Education this week.

On Monday, Nemours' announced they would be abandoning the 5-acre site at Lake Nona for three times that amount of land less than 2 miles from Lake Nona. The statement reported that the price was just too high.

The team that visited the site will send a report to the LCME, which will make a decision about the medical

COLLABORATION OF IMMOKALEE WORKERS

About CIW

The CIW is a community based worker organization. The members: are largely Latino, and Haitian. We represent the international community working in the tomato fields Сегодня.

UCF lost its children's hospital at Lake Nona.

In Nebraska mall shooting, 6-year-old boy mistook toy gun for real rifle

HUMAN REMAINS FOUND UNDER SCHOOL

Archaeologists unearthed the 19-century skeletal remains of three adults in the 1930s, when the school was torn down.

The life-sized sculpture of Sigmund Freud, hanging from atop the science building, prompted a protest by students.

It's not good to be the king

Last weekend, a group of 12 UCF students joined a group representing immigrant tomato pickers and many others in protesting against fast-food restaurant Burger King for better wages and business ethics at its headquarters in Miami.

According to the Coalition of Immokalee Workers (CIW), the multibillion dollar conglomerate food chain is underpaying farm workers and perpetuating other forms of exploitation.

The wage of 45 cents per 32-pound barrel of picked tomatoes it pays tomato pickers has landed the King in a crossfire of trouble. This amount of payment has remained roughly the same since 1978.

On Monday, Nemour's, the College of Medicine Dean Deborah German stated in a press conference that the CIW's complaint will be sent to the Board of Directors for further consideration. The CIW has exceeded her expectations in the previous year.

In an effort to make opportunity seamless for these students, the McNair Scholars Program and RAMP will enable them to catch the momentum of their education.

A large sum of cash was found with Lee at the time of his arrest, but police can't positively say if the cash is the property of a citizen or a suspect in the Pegasus Landing robbery.

The programs look to address minority students because of how education has been denied to them in the past. The programs look to address minority students because of how education has been denied to them in the past. The programs look to address minority students because of how education has been denied to them in the past. The programs look to address minority students because of how education has been denied to them in the past. The programs look to address minority students because of how education has been denied to them in the past.

At UCF, the McNair Scholar Program and the Research and Monitoring Program encourage undergraduate minority students to pursue doctoral degrees.
They're with

Rock Band Tour helps players 'turn plastic into rock'

AMANDA ZIKE

The crowd west wild as the band Acworth entered the stage up outside the New UCF Arena on Friday.

The band had just finished playing "Daylight" by the Red Hot Chili Peppers on MTV and Harmonic's new video game, Rock Band.

"We are Acworth," lead singer and senior Kevin Allen said, "and we turn plastic into rock.

Allen and his bandmates, Daniel Kasau, Bonney and O'Ray, dressed up in black suits and ties for the occasion.

"Costumes are something that we want to do for any sort of occasion," Allen said. "We wanted to really be a band, and we felt a unified look would give us that presence."

The Official Rock Band Tour has been on the road for a few months. Two tours are running simultaneously, one on the East Coast and one on the West Coast.

The tour stops at various colleges, events and concerts across the U.S. to let the general public test out the new UCF Arena on Friday.

The Rock Band tour bus stopped on UCF's campus from noon until 5 p.m. on Friday, Baptiste said.

"Of course, we would love to incorporate people into the game and go on tour," Baptiste said. "The idea for Guitar Hero was being in competition with them," Baptiste said.

Allen agreed that both games have differences to offer, despite their similarities.

"I have to say that between Guitar Hero and Rock Band, Guitar Hero definitely has the attitude more," Allen said.

Despite this distinction, Allen says he enjoys Rock Band more because it allows players to try out different instruments. It also has a "Create-a Rocker" feature, where players can create their own characters.

"It really neat to see yourself on the screen rising out and playing the drums like a real drummer would," Baptiste said.

Rock Band includes many popular songs from the 1980s to today. Scene of the game includes "Eye of the Tiger" by Survivor, "Detroit Rock City" by KISS and "Gin and Juice" by the Rolling Stones.

"Because there are other band members, it makes it a lot harder," Baptiste said.

Electrical engineering major Stephen Holman tried out Rock Band but didn't have a preference as to which game he liked better.

"I'd rather be playing the real instrument," Holman said.

Holman's housemates, Greg Pilarski and Will Barrom, also have a real band named Tinkus, but prefer playing the virtual instruments.

"Greg has real shredding skills," Barrom said. While Rock Band is still available on only Xbox 360 and PlayStation 3, the PlayStation 2 version is set to release in mid-December, Baptiste said.
Rowdy Knights keep it loud

SHARMA FORTIER

Even with a scratchy voice, Michael Morris hangs over railings and cheers on the Knights until his face turns red.

As a former athlete, Morris said he knows how to pump up a crowd. "My passion and love for UCF led him to the Rowdy Knights as a freshman." Now, as a senior and president of the Rowdy Knights, Morris helps all fans raise their UCF spirit.

The Rowdy Knights is a registered UCF student organization dedicated to increasing school spirit.

Although the group tries to attend every sporting event, football, basketball, and baseball are their main attractions. This club started in 2003 and has grown from 25 members to nearly 300.

"My big thing is I just want to see more UCF fans crowd around here," Morris said. "I think it's kind of cliché, but at the same time, that's really what we're about.

Rowdy Knights is a way to get involved on campus, something that you can do at any time, any day of the week. If you're here now and want to go with us, you can still come out."

Another way the Rowdy Knights boost spirit is through campus events. Each year before the first home football game, the Rowdy Knights hire a cheerleader, a band, and a semi-truck to do a "pin-the-football-on-the-stadium" game. "We got about 300 people, and about 200 people come and go for just about an hour, streaming around, screaming and yelling," said director of marketing Matt Koerber.

"That's our way of saying thank you to our fans and letting them know we're here for the sports and we're going to be here for the fans." Koerber then added that the Rowdy Knights keep it loud.

"It's pretty sweet," Freshman business major Matt Koerber said. "I just get involved on campus, you know it's kind of cliché, but at the same time, that's really what we're about.

"It's really the icon of what a pu­dil-fan is really all about," he said. "It's really causal; it's laid back, it's fun, it's just a place where you know everybody in the place. It's the job the business is all about.

This is an unmatched atmosphere with the Rowdy Knights and the UCF in the opinion of Issacs and the Rowdy Knights."

You get a million people from the stadium, millions of chicken places, burger joints, but how many chick­ens of pubs do you have in America? He asked. "Not a lot.

"Therein lies the test of introducing the American public to the idea of stitting a pub."

"It's kind of like: 'I think for the Rowdy Knights, we need to train not only the management, staff and servers, but also the customers into a different kind of culture,'" Issacs said.

"Easier Rockies, president of the Graduate Hospitality Association, said he's con­cerned that when potential customers walk into the Rowdy Knights, they'll be discouraged by the number of people there.

"When students come in from the outside and see that the place is full, they are just going to leave and choose another restaurant," he said.

"Thirty-one pubs have opened in Canada, where the fan base at UCF is the group tries to attend every sporting event, football, basketball, and baseball are their main attractions. This club started in 2003 and has grown from 25 members to nearly 300. events. Even with a scratchy voice, Michael Morris hangs over railings and cheers on the Knights until his face turns red. As a former athlete, Morris said he knows how to pump up a crowd. "My passion and love for UCF led him to the Rowdy Knights as a freshman." Now, as a senior and president of the Rowdy Knights, Morris helps all fans raise their UCF spirit.

The Rowdy Knights is a registered UCF student organization dedicated to increasing school spirit. Although the group tries to attend every sporting event, football, basketball, and baseball are their main attractions. This club started in 2003 and has grown from 25 members to nearly 300.

"My big thing is I just want to see more UCF fans crowd around here," Morris said. "I think it's kind of cliché, but at the same time, that's really what we're about.

Rowdy Knights is a way to get involved on campus, something that you can do at any time, any day of the week. If you're here now and want to go with us, you can still come out."

Another way the Rowdy Knights boost spirit is through campus events. Each year before the first home football game, the Rowdy Knights hire a cheerleader, a band, and a semi-truck to do a "pin-the-football-on-the-stadium" game. "We got about 300 people, and about 200 people come and go for just about an hour, streaming around, screaming and yelling," said director of marketing Matt Koerber.

"That's our way of saying thank you to our fans and letting them know we're here for the sports and we're going to be here for the fans." Koerber then added that the Rowdy Knights keep it loud.

"It's pretty sweet," Freshman business major Matt Koerber said. "I just get involved on campus, you know it's kind of cliché, but at the same time, that's really what we're about.

"It's really the icon of what a pu­dil-fan is really all about," he said. "It's really causal; it's laid back, it's fun, it's just a place where you know everybody in the place. It's the job the business is all about.

This is an unmatched atmosphere with the Rowdy Knights and the UCF in the opinion of Issacs and the Rowdy Knights."

You get a million people from the stadium, millions of chicken places, burger joints, but how many chick­ens of pubs do you have in America? He asked. "Not a lot.

"Therein lies the test of introducing the American public to the idea of stitting a pub."

"It's kind of like: 'I think for the Rowdy Knights, we need to train not only the management, staff and servers, but also the customers into a different kind of culture,'" Issacs said.

"Easier Rockies, president of the Graduate Hospitality Association, said he's con­cerned that when potential customers walk into the Rowdy Knights, they'll be discouraged by the number of people there.

"When students come in from the outside and see that the place is full, they are just going to leave and choose another restaurant," he said.

"Thirty-one pubs have opened in Canada, where the fan base at UCF is 19-year-old with rifle opens fire in Nebraska mall, killing one

OMAHA, Neb. — The teenager carried his rifle into the mall, passing shoppers and clerks with a casual air, before opening fire, killing one person.

Recent study shows that

The dollar dropped sharply Tuesday against the euro, weighed down by fears of a possible credit crisis in the United States, and a lightening of the credit crunch in Europe.

Faculty feeling pressure to study-abroad program costs

As the dollar dips to all-time lows, study-abroad officials are feeling financial pressure, forcing colleges to cut costs, tap reserve funds, or look elsewhere to students.

In the last year alone, the dollar's value has dropped by 6 percent, against the pound, 7 percent against the yen, and 13 percent against the Canadian dollar. Brian J. Wallen, the president of the Forum on Educational潜水于 a German organization of study-abroad providers, estimates that the dollar's performance has forced colleges to study-abroad costs to rise by 10 to 20 percent over the last several years.

Currency fluctuations and the effect on study abroad

In the early 1990s, the enrollment of American students studying in Japanese institutions fell by nearly 20 percent, largely due to the yen's depreciation.

The dollar, which has recently gained momentum, is also expected to continue rising against the euro and other major currencies.

With the dollar's rise, study-abroad programs by the end of the year may see cuts of 20 to 30 percent, according to various estimates.

Study-abroad officials are also concerned about the potential impact of the dollar's rise on the ability of students to afford study abroad.

The dollar's rise has already prompted international flight to Europe, as students seek out more affordable destinations.

University of Central Florida
Office of Student Conduct

Fall 2007 Statistics

Violations (major categories) Alcohol 285
Disruptive Conduct 88
Drugs 53
Providing False or Misleading Info 4
Academic Dishonesty 39
Personal Abuse 25
Sexual Misconduct 3
Sanctions

Disciplinary Probation 24
Suspension 15
Expulsion 0

Location

On Campus 154
On Campus (housing) 221
Off Campus 12
Affiliated Housing 69
Greek Housing 1

These totals reflect violations of the Rules of Conduct for the Fall 2007 semester that were reported to the Office of Student Conduct.
Workers ask for higher wages

Aulisio, a freshman theater studies major, also indicated that the actions against Burger King aren't only focused on acquiring higher wages for workers but also on enforcing human rights.

There are numerous accounts of modern-day slavery involving farmers and the procedures they work for. Dating back to 1990, there have been several court cases dealing with the practice.

"Don't know of the history behind Burger King enacting the rights of tomato pickers," Aulisio said. "They claim that they are not in the agriculture business and therefore not responsible for workers. They can say that but cannot ensure human rights. We enjoy eating the product (provides labor) without thinking of the sacrifices given to provide them."

The protests also featured several workshops that educated people on issues occurring in the agriculture industry. Some of these workshops included "Organizing Overcoming Low-Wage Workers Fighting Back," "Exploring New Strategies for Fair-Farmer Partnership in the Campaign for Fair Food," "Modern-Day Slavery and Human Rights," and "Finding Solutions in Pakistan and Funana, Successful Strategies in New Approaches."

"It was a really great experience seeing students, demonstrators and workers (protest) for social justice," said SFP member andichte writer Matthew Lariza. "Students are learning that RAMP stands for their mentors in conducting research in daily basis for a bi-weekly update."

Senior molecular and microbiology major Marcela Barrero was accepted into both programs during the first semester of her junior year.

She said the programs have changed her life for better.

"It wasn't for McNair, I wouldn't have been able to go to grad school," Barrero said. "If it wasn't for McNair, I wouldn't be here today."

Each year, between 20 and 30 minority students who McNair Scholars Program and RAMP assist their mentors into graduate school and pursue their PhD's degree.

Investigation in progress

According to the release, Ondrejack was coming from downtown and admitted to police that he was drinking at the bar.

Police have charged Ondrejack with driving under the influence and property damage and possession of a firearm’s license. He was arrested at the scene after refusing to take field sobriety tests, according to the charging affidavit.

"It's been a big problem lately," said Trooper Kim Miller, spokesperson for Florida Highway Patrol, referring to other alcohol-related incidents in the area.

Ondrejack was charged with an accident involving damage to a vehicle. Police said.

The mile march ended at the offices of Goldman Sachs. The private equity firm is one of three multi-billion dollar firms that own Burger King restaurants along the way to the fast-food chain’s headquarters, near Burger King’s headquarters, the "March on Burger King,“ the "Our World, Our Rights, Our Future" Conference featured several speakers of local and national organizations, including the Nine-Mile-March on Burger King, the "Our World, Our Rights, Our Future, Food for the Poor."

In addition to the protest at Burger King’s headquarters, community organizations and students around the state gathered at the sites of major Burger King restaurants to protest the company and the fast-food industry.

"It was a really great experience seeing students, demonstrators and workers (protest) for social justice," said SFP member andichte writer Matthew Lariza. "Students are learning that RAMP stands for their mentors in conducting research in daily basis for a bi-weekly update."

Senior molecular and microbiology major Marcela Barrero was accepted into both programs during the first semester of her junior year.

She said the programs have changed her life for better.

"It wasn't for McNair, I wouldn't have been able to go to grad school," Barrero said. "If it wasn't for McNair, I wouldn't be here today."

Each year, between 20 and 30 minority students who McNair Scholars Program and RAMP assist their mentors into graduate school and pursue their PhD’s degree.

Ondrejack was charged with an accident involving damage to a vehicle. Police said.

The mile march ended at the offices of Goldman Sachs. The private equity firm is one of three multi-billion dollar firms that own Burger King restaurants along the way to the fast-food chain’s headquarters, near Burger King’s headquarters, the "March on Burger King,“ the "Our World, Our Rights, Our Future, Food for the Poor."

In addition to the protest at Burger King’s headquarters, community organizations and students around the state gathered at the sites of major Burger King restaurants to protest the company and the fast-food industry.

"It was a really great experience seeing students, demonstrators and workers (protest) for social justice," said SFP member andichte writer Matthew Lariza. "Students are learning that RAMP stands for their mentors in conducting research in daily basis for a bi-weekly update."

Senior molecular and microbiology major Marcela Barrero was accepted into both programs during the first semester of her junior year.

She said the programs have changed her life for better.

"It wasn't for McNair, I wouldn't have been able to go to grad school," Barrero said. "If it wasn't for McNair, I wouldn't be here today."

Each year, between 20 and 30 minority students who McNair Scholars Program and RAMP assist their mentors into graduate school and pursue their PhD’s degree.

UCF programs aid minorities

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.

The McNair Scholars and RAMP programs at UCF are a part of the Educational Opportunity Programs that Congress established to end a system that light the war on poverty.

Students come into the program not low-income, first-generation students to graduate education. Federal and university funds support the programs and give students opportunities that wasn’t available to them before.

For the McNair Scholars Program, students must create an original research project or take courses offered at a national university.

The UCF McNair Scholars Program received a five-year $2.5 million grant.

After working with the practice.
Compared to a also displayed which stands for e would offer people “door-to-door.”

Watanabe said robotics will be a core business for the company in coming years. Toyota will test out robots at hospitals, Toyota-related facilities and other places starting next year, he said. And the company hopes to put what it calls “partner robots” to real use by 2010, he said.

“We want to create robots that are useful for people in everyday life,” he told reporters at a Toyota showroom in Tokyo.

Watanabe and other company officials said robotics was a natural extension of the automaker’s use of robots in its manufacturing, as well as the development of technology for auto related to artificial intelligence, space and pre-crash safety systems.

Watanabe provided a view of the future in which in the near future, he said Thursday — would offer “bed-to-door” services to people, including the elderly and the sick, just like says people “door-to-door.”

But Toyota’s new robot plays a pretty solid “Pomp and Circumstance” today.

A new robotic system, which has already been working as a guide at Toyota’s showroom at its headquarters since earlier this year.

In the demonstration, Robina, which has a head shaped like a bobbin, harnessed, interacted smoothly with a person, including carrying on a simple dialogue, it also showed how it could sign its name in script building a fat felt-tip pen with its three fingers.

• 123 Spacious Rooms
• 99 Fully Equipped Suites
• Complimentary Full Breakfast Buffet
• Courtyard (Gym Open 24 hours)
• Outdoor Heated Pool
• 2 Meeting Rooms for up to 40 People
• High Speed Internet Access

All 3 locations within 1/2 mile from UCF located on University Blvd!

“The Marriott Way”
Recapping a winner

UCF Women's Soccer claimed C-USA regular season title, made it to second round of the NCAA's.

NEWS TO NOTE

UCF Women's Soccer earned the regular season championship, which is the second consecutive title for the Knights.

Men's basketball prep's for Mississippi on Sat.

BRADY MURPHY

The UCF basketball team has been on an impressive streak, winning their last seven games and improved to 21-3 overall.

CRICKET GRADES THREE ASSISTS WANTED TO JOIN THE MIX

Ashley is eager to join the team and bring her skills to the game. She has been practicing hard and is ready to contribute.

Central Florida Future

Sports

The Student Newspaper at UCF since 1966

NATIONAL SPORTS WRAP

NATIONAL SPORTS WRAP

UCF Women's Soccer

UCF Women's Soccer claimed the regular season championship, which is the second consecutive title for the Knights.

NEWS TO NOTE

UCF Women's Soccer earned the regular season championship, which is the second consecutive title for the Knights.

Men's basketball prep's for Mississippi on Sat.

BRADY MURPHY

The UCF basketball team has been on an impressive streak, winning their last seven games and improved to 21-3 overall.

CRICKET GRADES THREE ASSISTS WANTED TO JOIN THE MIX

Ashley is eager to join the team and bring her skills to the game. She has been practicing hard and is ready to contribute.
Cabrera, Willis traded to Tigers from Florida

MIKE FITZPATRICK

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Dontrelle Willis was on vacation in Mexico when the blockbuster deal was completed, and Miguel Cabrera was home in Venezuela.

Their last stop is Detroit, where the Tigers are building an all-star lineup.

The Detroit Tigers finalized their biggest trade with the Florida Marlins on Wednesday, an eight-player deal that sent highly rated prospects to cash-strapped Florida to go-for-broke Detroit.

"We're excited," Tigers President Dave Dombrowski said on a conference call. "We're excited to add a couple of All-Stars to an awfully powerful team."

The clubs touched base on Monday night, then Florida approached Detroit on Tuesday. By Wednesday afternoon, the deal was completed and Willis was caught off guard.

"I was caught off guard," Willis said on a conference call. "When I heard where I went, I was excited and happy.""We recognize the market value for both players," Willis said.

The Marlins received a package of six players, including two highly rated prospects: left-hander Cameron Maybin, the No. 1 selection in the 2005 draft, and Andrew Miller, the No. 16 selection in the 2006 draft.

The Tigers also sent catcher Mike Rivera and right-handers Ramon Ramirez, Alfonso Le De La Cruz and Dallas Trahan to Florida for Cabrera and Willis.

"We made this trade to win now," Dombrowski said. "This is not woe is the world."

The Tigers reached the World Series in 2006, but they went 88-74 this season and finished last in the AL Central. Cabrera, an eight-year All-Star, is coming off the worst season of his career.

"We hope to keep them long term," Beinfest said of Cabrera and Willis. "It was time for all of us to move on in the marketplace.""This is not woe is the world," Dombrowski said.

Cabrera, the 2003 NL Rookie of the Year, is coming off a bad year in which he went 2-15 with a 5.17 ERA. He has struggled against left-handed pitching, however.

"I want to be in the best opportunity," Cabrera said. "I will play left field, third base, wherever they want. I can't wait to go to spring training to see what they want me to do.

Willis, the 2003 NL Rookie of the Year, was coming off a 10-15 year in which he went 9-15 with a 4.35 ERA. He made 23 errors at third base and is not considered a good defensive player.

"I was on vacation in Mexico when I heard the news," Willis said. "I was surprised, I was happy and I was excited.

"I was caught off guard," Willis said. "When I heard where I went, I was excited and happy."

"We're excited," Tigers President Dave Dombrowski said on a conference call. "We're excited to add a couple of All-Stars to an awfully powerful team."

The clubs touched base on Monday night, then Florida approached Detroit on Tuesday. By Wednesday afternoon, the deal was completed and Willis was caught off guard.

"I was caught off guard," Willis said on a conference call. "When I heard where I went, I was excited and happy.""We recognize the market value for both players," Willis said.

The Marlins received a package of six players, including two highly rated prospects: left-hander Cameron Maybin, the No. 1 selection in the 2005 draft, and Andrew Miller, the No. 16 selection in the 2006 draft.

The Tigers also sent catcher Mike Rivera and right-handers Ramon Ramirez, Alfonso Le De La Cruz and Dallas Trahan to Florida for Cabrera and Willis.

"We made this trade to win now," Dombrowski said. "This is not woe is the world," Dombrowski said.

The Tigers reached the World Series in 2006, but they went 88-74 this season and finished last in the AL Central. Cabrera, an eight-year All-Star, is coming off the worst season of his career.

"We hope to keep them long term," Beinfest said of Cabrera and Willis. "It was time for all of us to move on in the marketplace.""This is not woe is the world," Dombrowski said.

Cabrera, the 2003 NL Rookie of the Year, is coming off a bad year in which he went 2-15 with a 5.17 ERA. He has struggled against left-handed pitching, however.

"I want to be in the best opportunity," Cabrera said. "I will play left field, third base, wherever they want. I can't wait to go to spring training to see what they want me to do.

Willis, the 2003 NL Rookie of the Year, was coming off a 10-15 year in which he went 9-15 with a 4.35 ERA. He made 23 errors at third base and is not considered a good defensive player.

"I was on vacation in Mexico when I heard the news," Willis said. "I was surprised, I was happy and I was excited.

"I was caught off guard," Willis said. "When I heard where I went, I was excited and happy."
The realm of The Golden Compass involves aeronautes, sky witches, proud polar bears, a truth-telling device, spirit companions in the guise of animals and a young girl (Dakota Blue Richards) prophesized to save her world from the oppressive likes of Marisa Coulter (Nicole Kidman) and the Magisterium.

And some people in our universe aren’t too happy about that.

Though somewhat muddled as an adaptation and inaccurately derivative of Kazuo Ishiguro’s novel, The Golden Compass remains an exciting primer for a series that is just as intricate in the politics of its alternative universe as it is in the magic. While the emergence ofoultraworlds writer Philip Pullman’s novel — against the abuse of power by any one authority — is less explicitly derived at any specific political-establishment overweening, it hasn’t stopped those with more devoted interests from having some Issue-itch reactions.

Last Saturday afternoon, an imposing group of teenagers decided to get permission to the promotional standee for the film in the lobby of the Pricier Cinemas 14 in the Fashion Square Mall.

“They just kicked it and said, ‘No, you can’t have any posters or anything like that. We’re just going to throw it away.’”

This particular incident took place after weeks of uproar over the film’s supposed anti-Catholic messages — the Catholic League called for a boycott in October and on the night of a nationwide week of protests to pressure the censor prior to the film’s opening.”

“The end of the film warns of a worse thing to come to determine freedom for all. From the sound of things, we wound up not using the standee but simply having it work as the lobby.”

*From the Central Florida Future.*
Hip-hop event draws crowd of more than 100

JESSICA TUGGLE / Contributing Writer

Soulmate rap and music-schooled on the Memory Mall, more than 100 students celebrated the 25th anniversary of a documentary short film about culture, during an unexpectedly intense Hip Awareness Council Sunday.

With perfect weather for an outdoor jam session, graffiti artists, disc jockeys, emcees and break-dancers, or b-boys, shared their favorite elements of hip-hop with UCF students and members of the surrounding Orlando community.

Dustin Funk, 24, said he heard about the anniversary celebration online through MySpace. He’s a four-year-old son, Elvis, come along to watch his dad and other b-boys show off their moves to Michelangelo’s “Creation of Adam” dance floor.

“Wherever I hear about a hip-hop event, I’m there,” Funk said.

During the seven-hour event, people moved around Memory Mall, going from the stage with the live wire and life to the makeshift graffiti wall and the b-boy’s cyphers, and cyglops.

A circle is united by a bunch of hip-hop fans taking turns to throw down in the UC junior Fernando Rodriguez’s backyard. The circle is a circle, one at a distance from the other.

The DJs spin their turntables to upbeat and energetic music as the crowd gathered around the walls to watch eight b-boys battle each other in a competition with dizzying footwork and amazing athleticism.

“I think it’s the greatest show I’ve ever seen,” said a UC junior participant.

“My favorite performer was Raja,” said another UC junior participant.

“The gravest of content is set to an uplifting melody, making Jean’s new release an instant hit.

The Fugees made a tempestuous debut on the album, featuring Tupac Shakur’s first single, “Hip Hop Nation” (East West). The album features the hit single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” a song featuring the group’s signature rap style.

The album features the group’s signature rap style, with punch lines from each member, including Tupac Shakur’s first single, “Power.” The album features the hit single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” a song featuring the group’s signature rap style.

The album’s lead single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” is a hit for the group and features the hit single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” a song featuring the group’s signature rap style.

The album features the group’s signature rap style, with punch lines from each member, including Tupac Shakur’s first single, “Power.” The album features the hit single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” a song featuring the group’s signature rap style.

The album features the group’s signature rap style, with punch lines from each member, including Tupac Shakur’s first single, “Power.” The album features the hit single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” a song featuring the group’s signature rap style.

The album features the group’s signature rap style, with punch lines from each member, including Tupac Shakur’s first single, “Power.” The album features the hit single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” a song featuring the group’s signature rap style.

Fugitive, a three-year-old son of the Fugees, made a tempestuous debut on the album, featuring Tupac Shakur’s first single, “Power.” The album features the hit single, “Doo-Be-Doo,” a song featuring the group’s signature rap style.

Thank you for choosing UCF Alumni Magazine.
Stay stylish with holiday gifts

JAMIE SALMASIAN
Staff Writer

When your finals are over and you can concentrate on holiday shopping, the future is how to help you decide what to buy for the raunchy and nice people on your list. Here are some of the latest fashions you can affect on a college student's budget.

For women:

• Create: From peacoats to motorcycle jackets, you can keep warm in a lot of cheap and stylish ways this winter. Coats are a great way to layer an outfit, and they go well with stylish jeans and flats.

• Excuse and boots: Go downtown to Club Flyers, and you are bound to see this latest look in every direction. Yes, it's cold out, but when girls wear a cute dress with some slouchy or high-heeled boots, it works. Add some light tights or leggings, and this outfit will be complete.

• Abercrombie & Fitch: These are a must-have for this season. Whether it's a dark blue or a bright wash, men's denim helps to look great with silver or gold jewelry and dryer winter colors. This item can be paired with a variety of jeans and a sweater for a day at the mall, or with long-sleeved shirts, turtlenecks, shorts or pants, and it brings back the vintage look in a vintage way. Another great addition to this fun fashion piece is a long shearling coat.

• Phoenix: There is nothing better than cuddling up in a new pair of pajamas. Many fabrics are available, such as cotton, cotton and silk, and they are sold in styles, such as pants, capris, nightgowns, and t-shirts. For guys, pair them with polo shirts, and it brings back that classic look.

• Vintage T-shirt: These display a variety of colors and patterns, such as the Boxing Bear, are popular for men in holiday gifts.

• Beanies: These are a must-have for this season. Whether it's a clutch or a beanie, guys love them because they are easy to put on a head and give a laugh.

For men:

• Sweaters: It's definitely sweater weather, so get your guy one that's warm. Stripes, argyle and solid colors are always great. A sweater can be paired with a simple T-shirt and jeans to make a guy feel extra cozy.

• Dark-wash jeans: These automatically make an outfit go from casual to party or jeans and a sweater for a day at the mall. They can be paired with pretty much anything, and guys love them because they are easy to wear. These alone to jeans are very sleek and sexy. These are a must-have for this season. Whether it's a clutch or a beanie, guys love them because they are easy to put on a head and give a laugh.

• Vintage T-shirts: These are definitely a hot item right now. For the Beatles to Pink Floyd, guys will love this present because it's old school and hip at the same time.

• Saucony: A more refined game of hide-and-seek than that of its predecessors, The Bourne Ultimatum, which grossed more than $200 million in U.S. theaters, will be released on DVD Tuesday.

The Bourne Ultimatum DVD
Director And Company

From train station evasion tactics to clandestine brawls to bumper-bashing car chases, director Paul Greengrass (United 93) has shown perhaps his greatest dexterity yet at putting an audience in the midst of some very real — and very exciting — action sequences. The Bourne Ultimatum, which grossed more than $200 million in U.S. theaters, will be released on DVD Tuesday.

From train station evasion tactics to clandestine brawls to bumper-bashing car chases, director Paul Greengrass (United 93) has shown perhaps his greatest dexterity yet at putting an audience in the midst of some very real — and very exciting — action sequences. The Bourne Ultimatum, which grossed more than $200 million in U.S. theaters, will be released on DVD Tuesday.
It's everything I ever Imagined.

As the region's largest healthcare provider, we are growing hospital teams and offices across the area and we podr with the opportunity to participate in our dynamic and innovative environment. Our commitment to excellence is reflected in our rapidly expanding and ongoing professional development.

New Graduates!

We offer a solid foundation upon which you can build a successful career. Your new role will be your first step into the world of nursing. We provide the education, support, and resources you need to make the transition into professional practice. We offer continuous mentorship, a competitive salary, and benefits package. You must be current in CPR training and provide a current TB test or documentation of a currently active Bacillus Calmette-Guerin (BCG) vaccine. You must also meet the physical requirements of the job. This includes lifting, reaching, and standing for extended periods of time.

Registered Nurses & New Grads

- Surgery - Cardiac Care - Critical Care - Respiratory Care - Emergency
- Oncology - Pediatrics - Women and Infants - Behavioral Health - Oncology

Allied Health

- Respiratory Care - Pharmacy - Radiology - Rehab

Ask us about our Clinical Ladder Program!

For information about our Orlando Learning Center, please visit us online at OrlandoRegional.edu or call 407-947-2000.

Make your mark on Orlando Regional HealthCare's future.

www.orlandoregional.jobs

G&I CONVEYOR COMPANY, the leading manufacturer of baggage handling systems in the US, is looking for a few talented Engineers to join our rapidly growing team. If you are a motivated achiever who seeks new challenges and new opportunities to learn, then we want to talk to you.

Opportunities for recent graduates exist in the areas of:

- Electrical Engineering - Software Engineering - Mechanical Engineering

These positions will be based at our corporate headquarters located in Tavares, FL in scenic Lake County (Northwest Orlando). We offer competitive pay, excellent benefits, and opportunities for ongoing professional development.

Bachelor's degree in appropriate field required.

Apply to careers@giconveyor.com or call 352-742-3717.

IT'S EVERYTHING I EVER IMAGINED.
Grape Juice Antioxidant Study

RIPPE LIFESTYLE INSTITUTE at Florida Hospital Celebration Health is conducting a study for women comparing the effects of concord grape juice on body antioxidant status.

For your participation in this study you will receive:

- Brief Physical Exam
- Complete Blood Work
- EKG Testing
- Body Composition Analysis
- $300 Compensation

To qualify you must be a healthy female, normal weight, non-smoking, and between 20 and 50 years of age. You must be able to participate in 2 separate double-blind nights.

For more information please call 407-303-4544
THERE'S AN EASIER WAY TO SELL YOUR STUFF.
CALL 1-800-669-5757

If you've got things to sell,
Orlando Sentinel Classifieds can make you some serious profit.

Orlando Sentinel
Your best local source for selling.

Get your Student Loan
• No application fees
• Borrow up to $40,000 a year
• Defer payments until graduation

Call Today!
888-493-6862
24 hours a day / 7 Days a Week
www.gopsl.com

Priority
STUDENT LOANS

Get CASH NOW for your BOOKS!

Stop into the UCF Bookstore to get cash for your textbooks.

Can't make it to the store? Look for our trailers around campus!

“No one pays more!”

UCF Bookstore
Your On-campus Store

4000 Central Florida Boulevard Orlando, FL 32816 (407) 823-2665
Monday - Thursday 8:00am-7:00pm, Friday 8:00am-5:00pm, Saturday 10:00am-2:00pm
www.ucf.bncollege.com

Get CASH NOW for your BOOKS!

Stop into the UCF Bookstore to get cash for your textbooks.

Can’t make it to the store? Look for our trailers around campus!

“No one pays more!”

UCF Bookstore
Your On-campus Store

4000 Central Florida Boulevard Orlando, FL 32816 (407) 823-2665
Monday - Thursday 8:00am-7:00pm, Friday 8:00am-5:00pm, Saturday 10:00am-2:00pm
www.ucf.bncollege.com

Get your Student Loan
• No application fees
• Borrow up to $40,000 a year
• Defer payments until graduation

Call Today!
888-493-6862
24 hours a day / 7 Days a Week
www.gopsl.com

Priority
STUDENT LOANS

Get CASH NOW for your BOOKS!

Stop into the UCF Bookstore to get cash for your textbooks.

Can’t make it to the store? Look for our trailers around campus!

“No one pays more!”

UCF Bookstore
Your On-campus Store

4000 Central Florida Boulevard Orlando, FL 32816 (407) 823-2665
Monday - Thursday 8:00am-7:00pm, Friday 8:00am-5:00pm, Saturday 10:00am-2:00pm
www.ucf.bncollege.com

Get CASH NOW for your BOOKS!

Stop into the UCF Bookstore to get cash for your textbooks.

Can’t make it to the store? Look for our trailers around campus!

“No one pays more!”

UCF Bookstore
Your On-campus Store

4000 Central Florida Boulevard Orlando, FL 32816 (407) 823-2665
Monday - Thursday 8:00am-7:00pm, Friday 8:00am-5:00pm, Saturday 10:00am-2:00pm
www.ucf.bncollege.com