UCF-specific book to join the Chicken Soup series

EMMY BARTER
Contributing Writer

It's not too late to add a story for publication in Chicken Soup for the UCF Soul.
The deadline has been extended, and the Alumni Association will be soliciting more stories from students between now and the start of the summer semester.

Previously, the submission deadline was Dec. 15 of last year. Nick Gull, public relations and communications coordinator, said submissions will now be accepted until the end of March. The goal is to publish the book in fall, around the time of Homecoming.
The book will feature 301 stories representing the lives of members: alumni, faculty and fans. It is the first Chicken Soup for the Soul series that will tell stories from only members of a particular college community.

Originally, the Alumni Association opted to have 120 submissions as the publishers of the Chicken Soup for the Soul book series would have a larger selection. Gull said that about 100 submissions have been received, mostly from alumni. He said he wants story submission during the next month to be more diverse with more

TODAY"
The Sri Lanka government has extended the ban on the sale of tobacco products to include e-cigarettes, a move that is expected to impact a significant portion of the country's smoking population.

In Brief:

- The ban on e-cigarettes was announced by the Ministry of Health and Nutrition, following consultations with the Sri Lanka Tobacco Control Authority.
- The ban comes into effect immediately and applies to all e-cigarettes and related products, including refills and accessories.
- The ministry stated that the ban is intended to protect public health and reduce the number of tobacco users.

Background:

Sri Lanka has a significant tobacco problem, with a high rate of smoking among men. The government has been implementing various measures to reduce smoking, including increasing taxes on tobacco products and implementing smoke-free policies in public places.

The ban on e-cigarettes is seen as a significant step in the fight against tobacco, as e-cigarettes have become a popular alternative for smokers in recent years. However, their health impacts are still a subject of debate, with some studies showing they may be less harmful than traditional cigarettes.

Conclusion:

The ban on e-cigarettes in Sri Lanka is expected to have a significant impact on the country's tobacco market, with many smokers switching to other alternatives. This move is seen as a positive step in the fight against tobacco, but it will be important to monitor the impact on public health and the tobacco industry over time.
China enters sex revolution

ANITA CHANG

BEIJING - The so-called "sex riots" in Beijing's multi-university district pulsed up a beat yesterday, as lusty college couples made a beeline past greasy spoon restaurants and bootleg video-game shops for the Cheng Lin Ming Guang Hotel, a 10-minute walk from Beijing Normal University.

China is in the midst of a sexual revolution, a byproduct of rising prosperity and loosen government restrictions on private life. The relaxed attitudes about sex mark a historic turnaround from the days when love and sex were denounced as bourgeois decadence, and until Mao suits and drab austerity were the norm.

But the revolution is taking place largely behind closed doors, and the word "sex" — or "xing" (pronounced shing) is spoken only in hushed whispers. "The revolution has not been shared by the average Chinese ... yet," said a young woman who frequents the Cheng Lin Ming Guang Hotel. "Many people have never heard the word 'sex' — even though most Chinese understand it.

A 23-year-old golf coach from Xinjiang, a region about 1,500 miles west of Beijing, briefly enacted a rule last year requiring female students to take pregnancy tests as part of their annual school physical. The outcry about privacy forced the school to rescind the policy.

Abortion is readily available and viewed as a much safer alternative to being a unmarried teenage mother in China. Abortion is readily available and viewed as a much safer alternative to being unmarried teenage mother in China.

The Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, a government think tank, reported last year that 80 percent of the patients at Shanghai's abortion clinics during one-week school holiday periods said they lived with sex.

As recently as the 1990s, a couple kissing hands in public would draw stares. Now a government that once had cops on the streets chasing them has kept up with the times.

Byproduct of rising incomes has allowed urban Chinese to pursue much more than mere survival. The relaxed sex between awkward discussion and silence. Psychology Deng Junjie, a strapping 21-year-old, said she once went to a weekend party. "Parents and schools remain shy when talking about sex, but the revolution has finished in the gap between awkward discussion and silence. "

A walk-in abortion costs $80 at the Hotian Maternal and Child Health Hospital, a large public hospital in northwestern Beijing. Too pricey? Skip the anesthesia and the price falls to $50.

The administration of Miami Edison Senior High School began shortly after 9 a.m. Friday during a protest by some students over the arrest Thursday of another student, according to police. There were claims the student had been handed roughly the size of a softball and was arrested on charges of assault with the assistance of police.

Dozens of police cars responded to the school, which is located in downtown Miami, which had a crowd of more than 1,000. The police officer included a disk-lock shoulder, a broken nose, a black eye and as well as cuts and bruises. None of the injuries was described as life-threatening.

No students or teachers were seen being injured.

Putin predicts Medvedev ahead in presidential election

Russian President Vladimir Putin has dismissed suggestions that his prime minister, Dmitry Medvedev, is struggling to win an easy victory in the presidential contest.

The Central Election Commission returns from 10 percent of Russia's electoral districts showed Medvedev with about 50 percent of the vote.

Russia's vote had been expected to modernize Putin, allowing the already-popular former KGB agent to retain significant power in a nation where his name has grown even more synonymous with power.

But some opponents of Putin said the vote was the first significant challenge to his hold on power, with the ruling party expected to win control of the Duma, the Lower House of the Russian parliament.

But Putin's popularity remained strong, and he was expected to win the presidency with ease.

Putin has said he would accept Medvedev's offer of the presidency.

But some Putin supporters have warned that the election could moderate a popular vote for Putin over his own campaign, saying they would support Medvedev.

The vote will be held Sunday, and the results are expected to be announced Tuesday.

International observers have been monitors of the vote, but they did not have access to the election.

The government said monitors would be permitted to observe the vote, but they did not have access to the election.

But some analysts said the vote will be a major test of whether the opposition can effectively use the election as a tool to challenge Putin's authority.

Though he has never held elected office, Putin has been a powerful force behind the vote, and the opposition had predicted he would use the election as a tool to challenge Putin's authority.

Class of 2011 Book to Feature 101 Stories

In 2004, a group of students submitted essays about their personal experiences in order to receive a free book. The success of this program has led to the creation of a new book that will be released in the spring of 2011.

The book, titled "Chicken Soup for the UCF Soul," will feature 101 stories written by UCF students, alumni, faculty, and staff. The stories will cover a wide range of topics, including life lessons, memories, and advice.

The essays will be selected by a panel of judges, including Kurt Guli, former UCF student and author of "Chicken Soup for the Soul." The book will be published by Chicken Soup for the Soul, a publishing company that specializes in personal stories and advice.

The book is expected to be released in the spring of 2011, and it will be available for purchase online and in bookstores.

"If you've got a really great story, it would be a shame not to share that with the UCF community," said Wendy Shill Kurtz, executive director of UCF Alumni Association.

The book is expected to be released in the spring of 2011, and it will be available for purchase online and in bookstores.

UCF makes it 7 straight wins

BRIAN MURPHY

Last week, offense fueled the UCF Baseball team. This weekend, the offense fell off a bit, as the team's pitching and defense stepped up. Its matter how they got the win, but the win was the same. For five Knights, a three-game sweep. The Knights downed the Central Michigan Chippewas by respective scores of 6-1, 7-3 and 4-3 at Jay Bergman Field this past weekend. UCF is now 7-0 on the season. It's best start since 1996. A lot of the credit goes to its pitchers, who allowed just eight runs in the three games and have struck out at least 25 batters in every game this season, the highest strikeout since Bergman Field opened in 2001. Sunday's contest was the most comosed of the weekend, but the Knights came through with some serious hitting in the eighth inning. Brian Richardson and Eric Kallstrom started the inning with singles to center field, putting runners at the corners with no outs. After the Knights got caught in a rundown, which kept Richardson on third but resulted in a double play, Josh Seiberle scored the first pitch he saw up the middle for the go-ahead run.

Five Knights say goodbye at home with win over Rice

BRIAN MURPHY

The UCF Men's Basketball team won a close game over the Rice Owls on Saturday night 68-66. It was a critical win for the Knights' conference tournament seeding, and as their confidence as they finish the regular season this weekend on the road. But above all, the game was a tribute to the team's five seniors who were playing their final home game at the UCF Field. Five Knights: a three-game season, its best start since 1996. And most of you didn't care. Apparently flying beach balls and playing keep away with arena security is significantly more entertaining and intoxicating than a basketball game. And that's fine. I guess, but if you want something much more fun, why even come out to the game? You can play with beach balls at home, and there is no end-posing wearing mafia trying to threaten you. Yeah, the noisemakers and noisemakers rules are kind of lame, but they are serious, and we should at least pretend to care about them.

UCF is already the clock tower for the death ball of originality. "Hey Ruby!" et al and now we giggles and groans when someone can outname a glorified ball mall in.

I guess we all are like 13 years old again. All that conversation takes away from the game. And most of you didn't care. How embarrassing is it that the moments in which the crowd cheered the ball mall coincided with made free throws by Rice in turn and turnovers by UCF. Great job, guys. But back to UCF. UCF head coach Kirk Speraw had come out at the end of halftime to talk to the student section. But I guess the UCF fans didn't want to listen to any behains. Stay classy, UCF. After the game, Speraw was nothing but support for all the fans. "We have our great students," Speraw said. "They've been great all year with their energy."
Knights' regular season concludes with victory

If the UCF Women's Basketball team was looking for a game in which to play the best two halves of its season, the Knights certainly picked a good time to do it.

"UCF blew past Memphis 86-67 in the final game of the regular season giving them a much-needed confidence boost heading into the Conference USA tournament, which starts Thursday. "This was a great win for us today and a great way to go into the conference tournament," UCF head coach Jo Jo Williams said in a press release. "We did it through defense. We had a few lapses, but we were able to come back and get stops. I am proud of the way we closed out the regular season, and this win will be really good for our confidence." Williams led the way for the Knights with 20 points and 14 rebounds, but the big story of the night was Chelsea White and Daniels led the way for the Knights with 20 points and 14 rebounds, but the big story of the night was the Knights' lead trimmed to 71-65 with 2:35 remaining. "When the Knights' lead trimmed to 71-65 with 2:35 remaining, the Knights went on a 6-0 run to put the game out of reach. "The Knights will open the Conference USA Championship as the No. 12 seed and will face the Blazers at the line to ice the game. "Down 33-19 at the half, the Knights came to life in the second half and pulled away to a 68-63 victory, but the Knights didn't go down without a fight. "We had a good opportunity to win that game," Williams said. "I am really proud of the way our team fought back. They showed great effort in the second half and that is the way we are going to play from this point forward. We had a lot of shots shown at the end, but we just couldn't get them to fall." White and Daniels led the way for UCF with 16 points each, but Lewis was once again the story of the game. "Luis brought down a career-high 17 boards to par­take in the second half. "The biggest story for us today and a great way to go into the conference tournament," UCF head coach Jo Jo Williams said in a press release. "We did it through defense. We had a few lapses, but we were able to come back and get stops. I am proud of the way we closed out the regular season, and this win will be really good for our confidence. "Luis grabbed 14 rebounds in the game to become UCF's all-time single-season rebound leader with 335, surpassing Tamika Cooksey's 335 rebounds during the 1993-94 campaign. Lewis also finished the regular season first on the team in points (2/23) and rebounds (3/4)." UCF finished 14-16 in the regular season and 6-12 in CUSA. The Knights Certainly picked a good time to do it. When the Knights' lead trimmed to 71-65 with 2:35 remaining, the Knights went on a 6-0 run to put the game out of reach. Softball wins 3 during weekend

MELISSA HEYBOER

After splitting the first two games of the Atlantic Sunshine tournament Friday, the UCF softball team outscored its opponents 26-6 on game two, defeating Delaware 18-3, and being swept by Villanova 8-2 and Vermont 11-4.

Aiken won the plate rally, with Delaware, and the big plays on defense allowed us to be competitive with a tough-hitting squad," UCF head coach Renee Gillispie said.

UCF's bats were kept silent throughout the game, as they were held hitless through six innings.

Then UCF scored its only run of the game in the bottom of the sixth inning. With one out, junior catcher Andrea Dane finished her hitless day with a single to right field, and the visitors' only hit of the game.

But there has to be in the other set, and only one run of the game.

We were extremely happy to have the opportunity to play against the best team in the world," Dane-carriage said. It was really proud of our defense, and I don't think we knew it on field of level, and that's why we got the great chance of making a run at a specialized experience. The loss moved UCF to 3-1 through the first five days of play after defeating instate rival Florida A&M 10-6 earlier in the week.

The Knights would stage a comeback in the sixth inning, but it wouldn't be enough for the Wildcats, falling 6-4 to the Knights.

Once again, the Knights produced just four hits, but were unable to capitalize on the opportunities. UCF's bats were kept quiet, and the next at bat.

The Knights would carry that momentum into game two, defeating Vermont 8-2 with the help of seven hits and 12 strikeouts for Kime.

Noel’s offense, defense helps Knights hold off Owls

March 2, 2008 • Orlando Sentinel

Noel Adams

The Knights (16-12 overall, 9-5 in Conference USA) got their first lead of the evening with a 39-23 lead into halftime. They made up for their poor shooting in the first half by outrebounding the Owls 38-24.

Noel led the Knights in UCF’s 68-60 win over Rice on Saturday. Taylor led the Knights with 20 points off the bench, while Noel scored 13.

Despite 12 turnovers in the first half, UCF was able to take a 19-13 lead into halftime. They made up for their poor ball control by outrebounding the Owls 22-12 and forcing them to go 0-4 on 3-point range.

The Knights maintained their double-digit lead throughout most of the second half until the Owls stormed back with an 11-5 run. But that game is still a couple of games trying to make plays that just weren’t there.

Suddenly, the Knights’ lead had gone from as much as 20 in the second half down to two with 2:27 left in the seniors’ final home game. This was no longer a celebration of some great UCF careers; the Knights were in jeopardy of closing out their home schedule with a loss to a three-win team.

Noel, who said the run was due to Rice’s aggressiveness along with UCF’s technicality, bit a couple of free throws to put his team up by four. Then with 1:32 remaining, Taylor delivered the dagger as he came off a screen near the right baseline and drained a 3-pointer to give UCF a 63-56 lead.

The Knights committed 19 turnovers in the game and shot just 33.3 percent in the second half, but they held on to their No. 4 spot in C-USA.

The Knights will now turn their attention to the conference’s No. 3 team, Houston (16-12 overall, 10-4 in C-USA).

The Cougars are coming off a loss to East Carolina on Saturday, but if the Knights can win this weekend, they’ll be right back in the mix of things.

Taylor and Noel delivered the daggers as they went off on a 11-1 run, storming back with an 11-1 run, stormed back with a 11-1 run.

UCF guard Jermaine Taylor, above left, and Dave Noel led the Knights in UCF’s 63-56 win over Rice on Saturday. Taylor led the Knights with 20 points off the bench, while Noel scored 13.

I played here. I’m happy I got a chance to witness this because UCF is on the rise, and I am just happy to get an opportunity to come out and play,” O’Donnell said.

Jerry, who said the run was due to Rice’s aggressiveness along with UCF’s technicality, bit a couple of free throws to put his team up by four. Then with 1:32 remaining, Taylor delivered the dagger as he came off a screen near the right baseline and drained a 3-pointer to give UCF a 63-56 lead.

Religious housing is not a mountain

Before any sort of construction has even happened, there has been the chance to begin the process of religiously-based housing facility has been turned into a Missed-favored-mode.

There are no different arguments against the facility. This is that no such argument is. Whenever religion is involved, the line becomes so thin that the former's next. This is the first bit of controversy comes in.

One of the arguments surrounding the idea of the housing facility, even where it was just a twinkle in the eyes of its creators.

The housing community would be an expensive and communal to those who follow whatever religion is involved in the project. Honestly, what you plan to live with, the less you consume than the ones you don't know, but you never knew that they won't.

Not just that, but the Central Florida Flag Hill Foundation, the group that is spearheading the project, is trying to make the community one-sided.

They want to bring in another organization of another edition, another one that is not the Catholic church in Florida, in order to diversify and avoid having a completely Jewish community.

It should have been focusing on that religiously and likely more to do with pupils in the Florida community.
