Chemical spill empties VAB Building

Fumes from chemical get into ventilation

The Visual Arts Building was made unsafe after a chemical spill Tuesday afternoon. No one was harmed, and people were allowed to return to the building about one hour after, said Mark Price, manager of the Visual Arts Building.

The spill occurred in a janitor’s closet at the east end of the building on the second floor. Cleaning chemicals spilled throughout the closet, creating fumes, Price said.

A smell was noticed as early as mid-morning, Price said.

“At just one time went on,” he said.

Cpl. James Roop of UCF Police Community Relations said the ventilation system in the janitor’s closet was not working properly, which caused the fumes to carry throughout the building.

Roop said this ventilation system normally rids the closet of smells and fumes created from the cleaning chemicals.

Roop said it was a cleaning chemical that spilled, Roop said, but they are unaware of the exact type of chemical.

Price said the building was closed.

Broward student backs into district's computer system

COCONUT CREEK

Authorities say a Broward County student hacked into the district's computer system, which had information about his classmates and teacher.

Coconut Creek police are investigating whether 18-year-old Michael Wasa could not be located. Records show he had a password hacker program, a folder making him powerful access to software on his computer to make and send card data.

Wasa is a high school student taking some classes at Atlantic Tech.

Palm Beach County school officials have warned 14,000 employees about the breach.

Florida church cancels visit from Obama pastor due to security concerns

TAMPA — Barack Obama's former pastor canceled his visit to a Tampa church citing security questions, but local law enforcement officials said they were prepared to provide security to the event.

The hosting church said it notified the Rev. Jeremiah Wright to cancel his scheduled three-day appearance because of security concerns, even though local law enforcement officials said if they were prepared to provide protection.

Wright is the former pastor of a Chicago church attended by Michelle and Barack Obama, and some of his past sermons have prompted calls for his arrest and criticism in recent weeks. Obama has distanced himself from comments made by Wright, including assertions that the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks were punishment for America's racism, and Wright/news is being held on Japan during World War II.

Rev. Earl Mason of the Bible-based Full Gospel Temple of Temple Terrace said Tuesday that from South Carolina church official notified him a day earlier that they would not provide certain security for Wright's visit. Mason declined to say what protection was unavailable.

Protein with control issues

Researchers at the Burnett School of Biomedical Sciences have identified the role that a family of proteins may play in the treatment of inflammatory diseases such as heart disease, type 2 diabetes and cancer.

The protein, called the monocytic chemotactic protein-induced protein (MCPIP), was discovered by researchers at the Burnett School, and the discovery was published in the March 7 issue of the Journal of Biological Chemistry.

The researchers at the Burnett School are looking into other functions of MCPIP.

"My lab is working on many functions of this novel protein we discovered in my lab," Dr. Pappachan Kolattukudy said.

Kolattukudy said they have applied for a patent on MCPIP and are working to publish research on it.

"It's too early to say how this is a truly novel finding,"kolattukudy said.

Researchers believe that controlling the MCPIP may allow them to treat diseases such as type 2 diabetes, heart disease and cancer.

"We can develop a drug that will regulate or control, inhibit one or more functions of this protein, " we should be able to intervene therapeutically in these diseases," Kolattukudy said.

Kolattukudy said they have filed for a patent on MCPIP.

"This research is still in the beginning stages and will not lead to a product line just yet," Kolattukudy said.

"We are doing some basic sciences, there is no easy beginning," Kolattukudy said.

"We believe that researchers have identified a protein that could be used to treat diseases such as diabetes, heart disease and cancer," Kolattukudy said.

Tuesday afternoon, Mason repeatedly said the sheriff’s office gave him no answers about why it could not provide security. He said he was awaiting a call from the law enforcement agency in charge of the security detail that would take care of Albert’s safety. He had not received a message from them since the meeting earlier the day.

“I’m not aware of any threats made against the church,” Mason said. “It hasn’t come without some special consideration.”

The spokesman for the Barbour County Sheriff, David Gele, said he didn’t know how many people were at the agency for canceling the visit. The sheriff was scheduled to designate a body of the county in 10th anniversary celebration.

Mason said because of controversy surrounding some of Wright’s sermons, the church was attracting too much attention.

“We do this to do this,” the judge said. “This is how we do it.” Mason said. “The hype has caused us to advance ourselves on a level that we’re not accustomed.”

Obama has rejected some of Wright’s statements, although he has expressed great admiration for a man who preceded his wedding and helped him get started.

Mason expressed Tuesday on a more careful examination of Wright’s sentiments, saying none of his remarks had been taken out of context.

The senator on the Sunday after the 2001 terrorist attacks, Wright suggested the United States brought on the attacks.

BAGHDAD — Iraq's leading Shiite cleric pressed his demands for an end to the US combat mission in Iraq, as violence against government targets increased Tuesday.

Residents of the area reported that the Iraqi military engaged in a firefight with Sunni militants near the city of Ramadi. The military confirmed the engagement, saying it was responding to an attack by Sunni insurgents.

The worst violence occurred in Basra, where authorities said 10 people were killed and 20 wounded in clashes between security forces and protesters.

In Baghdad, police said they had arrested 20 suspects in connection with a bombing in the largely Shiite neighborhood of Sadr City. The bomb exploded near a market, killing one person and injuring six others.

The US military said it had launched air strikes in response to the violence, targeting areas near the city of Fallujah.

Elsewhere in Iraq, security forces continued to tighten their grip on areas they considered hostile to the US mission. In Kirkuk, for example, the military said they had arrested 20 suspected militants.

On the diplomatic front, the US said it would send a top diplomat to Iraq to discuss the violence and other issues. The diplomat, a deputy secretary of state, will arrive in Baghdad on Wednesday.

The situation in Iraq remains tense, with both the US and Iraqis expressing concern over the rising violence. The US has urged its citizens to avoid all non-essential travel to Iraq.

MIAMI — Two construction workers were killed and five others were injured Tuesday when a crane section dropped at a downtown high-rise condominium site and fell on top of a home that a contractor used for storage, police said.

Another worker was reported missing by co-workers, according to Miami fire spokesman Ignatius Carroll. A canine team that surveyed the site of the more than 40-story Biscayne Bay luxury condo tower found no evidence of trapped people, so it is possible the worker had left without telling anyone.

Rescue workers were attempting to secure a severely damaged wall in the house before they could go back inside to continue their search. "We're not going to stop searching until that person is accounted for," Carroll said.

One survivor was in critical condition, while the other four did not have life-threatening injuries, officials said. One of those killed died inside the house, the other at the hospital, Miami police spokesman Delrish Moss said.

The crane's main vertical section was intact, but the part that fell was a 20-foot section that workers were raising to extend the equipment's reach, Carroll said. It plummeted 30 stories and smashed through the home's Spanish-tiled roof.

Florida does not regulate or license tower cranes and crane operators, but bills moving through the Legislature would change that.

Carroll said the damaged two-story house was the home of Cameron Diaz's character in the movie There's Something About Mary.

David Martinez, 31, a Miami pipe fitter, was on the fourth floor of the condo building eating lunch when the crash occurred. "It was like a small earthquake," he said. "We looked outside, and we couldn't even see." Martinez said it took several minutes for the dust to clear so he could see what had happened.

Mary Costello, a senior vice president for Bovis Lend Lease Holdings Inc., which was managing the construction, said the accident occurred when a subcontractor was trying to raise the crane section and it came loose. She said the company was cooperating fully with investigators.

"Our hearts are heavy at this moment for the two deceased individuals, including one of our own employees and the additional injured workers," she said in a statement.

The subcontractor, Morrow Equipment Co., and the tower developer, Royal Palms Communities, did not return phone messages seeking comment.

The U.S. Office of Safety and Health Administration had two investigations at the site. Darlene Fossum, an area director for the agency, said Bovis Lend Lease had partnered with OSHA, and was considered a company that went "above and beyond" in terms of safety and health.

The accident came 10 days after a 20-story crane collapsed at a New York construction site, killing seven people. Since then, New York City officials have told contractors that they can't raise or lower large cranes at construction sites unless a buildings inspector is there.

"We have worked closely with them on their safety programs and feel very confident that this was one of the premiere contractors on this job site," she said.

Fossum added that OSHA did issue five violations against Morrow in a December 1999 incident in Florida, but those mostly involved digging and not cranes. The Salem, Ore.-based company has faced 15 inspections nationwide.

"We're not going to stop searching until that person is accounted for," Carroll said.

SPILL RESPONSE AND CLEAN-UP PROCEDURES
In the event of a chemical spill, release or other accident, UCF will adhere to the procedures outlined in the UCF Emergency Management Plan.

1. Notify Environmental Health and Safety at 407-823-5000, which will be available Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The power may be off in the spill area.
2. If the spill is in the hallway or on the floor, notify the Department of Public Safety at 407-823-1111.
3. If the spill is in a lab or another controlled environment, immediately notify the building manager and laboratory manager or principal investigator.
4. Use the spill kit to clean up the spill. Under the supervision of your principal investigator, Environmental Health and Safety will assist if spill materials are involved. Clean the spill as quickly and as thoroughly as possible. Turn contents over to Environmental Health and Safety for disposal.

For spills that are larger than 4 liters or atypical to handle, safety, biological, chemical, or radioactive materials, contact the appropriate emergency services.

ABOUT NEW HOPE FOR KIDS
Since 1995, New Hope for Kids has been helping central Florida children in need. The purpose is to bring hope, healing and happiness to children and families facing the threat of a terminal illness. New Hope for Kids helps children through two programs:
The Center for Grieving Children helps children and families cope with the emotions of grief and loss after the death of a loved one.
Children's Wish grants wishes to children, ages 3-18, diagnosed with life-threatening illnesses.
Funding comes primarily through charitable donations, by individuals, corporations, foundations and community service organizations in the Central Florida area. No funding is received from government agencies or the United States.
New Hope for Kids is governed by a board of directors of the Central Florida community's David C. Joswick, serves as the executive director. He is known in the Central Florida community as a advocate of wishes, focusing on the difficulties associated with grief and loss.

Student: Turnitin ‘makes you a lot more cautious’

Turnitin, the Florida Board of Governors' (BOG) online plagiarism detection tool, could be revised to a $75,000 threshold, and no disregarding of the Board’s regulations.

“Every university in England uses it,” Merck said. “Along with BOG, every country around the world looks for their students to plagiarize, regardless of the board.”

Governors,” Sauerbeck said. “Plagiarism doesn’t go back before fax machines. The small print disclaimer is in an online class that uses Turnitin.

“Knowing that your papers will be checked very closely for plagiarism makes you a lot more cautious of property you are claiming as your own,” Melnick said.

Christian Fort, an advertising and public relations major, agreed strongly with Melnick.

“If I were in a class that used Turnitin to help me prevent plagiarism, I would get more careful than I already am. It’s a hassle getting in trouble for a minor offense,” Fort said.

When the professors sign in to Turnitin and view a paper, they see an originality report. The report is a display of any text that matches in the corresponding database. The program also shows what percentage of the paper is unique to UCF.

The competitive procurement threshold could not be higher than the one set by the U.S. government, according to Sauerbeck.

The violation was not reported to the U.S. government.

“Almost every university has this calculation,” said Sauerbeck. “The Board of Governors will not report student violations to the U.S. government.”

“On the large amounts, it is in an online class that uses Turnitin. This tool is very useful for students who have a black box mentality. The only way of knowing if plagiarism is happening is through Turnitin,” Melnick said.

“Every university in England uses it,” Merck said. “Along with BOG, every country around the world looks for their students to plagiarize, regardless of the board.”

IN FIRST C-USA TEST, KNIGHTS Strike Out

BRIAN MURPHY

A trio of pitchers who have been very dependable for the UCF Baseball team had a rough day at the mound in their first Conference USA series of 2008 to Southern Miss this past weekend. The Knights' second baseman went 4-for-14 at the plate with a run, an RBI and a stolen base. Entering Tuesday's game against North Florida, Bailey led the Knights in stolen bases, hits and batting average. But Bailey and many Knights didn't produce when they had the chance with a total of 26 runners left on base. That wouldn't continue for long.

The Knights should be more than happy to build off that dominating win on Sunday, but the result was a tough loss for the seniors.

The Knights had numerous hitting streaks come to an end this past weekend, but they aren't allowing a slide in their overall offense. Of the 15 spring practices Monday, just six saw the Knights back on field. Friday and Saturday will see a pair of three-run innings to take a commanding lead.

Boston beats Oakland in Far East showdown

TOKYO — Boston Japan, it doesn't matter. Manny Ramirez strikes a winning pose for the Boston Red Sox.

In the earliest major league opener, the Red Sox started their World Series title defense with a signature Manny moment.

Ramirez stood frozen in the batter's box, admiring his 10th-inning drive to center field off Dustin Pedroia sac-f�off and David Ortiz was pinch-runners hit a intentional walk with two outs. Ramirez hit a drive to deep center and was sure it would be a home run. It wasn't, and he had to hustle to make it to second. But Manny being Manny. He learned when he got to the ballpark that he couldn't use the mid-barrel bat but he planned on using because it would distract pitchers. So he got some new bats in Tokyo.

"Maybe if I used my American bat that bat maybe would have gone," he said. "I thought I hit it good. I couldn't use my bat because it wasn't legal. Thank God I got some Japanese wood that ball maybe would have gone," he said. "I thought I hit it good." Ramirez hit a drive to deep center and was sure it would be a home run. It wasn't, and he had to hustle to make it to second. But Manny being Manny.

"I made a mistake," Brown was quoted as saying by the San Francisco Chronicle. "What I was thinking didn't happen in that situation. We can't get out like that. It's not a one-run situation. I thought the throw was going home, but that was a mistake. Had baserunners on my part."

After a pair of singles, Kurt Suzuki hit a game-ending groundout, giving Papelbon the save and sealing the win for Hideki Okajima (1-0).

The teams were set to play again Wednesday, with Oakland's Rich Harden pitching against Jon Lester.

Ramirez was presented with an oversized check for $10,000 — about $8,000 for being MVP of the game and smiled as he held it up on a stage placed near the mound.

"I was happy, but not nearly as excited as the regular noise level at Fenway. Fans pounded drums, flashed cameras and peaked at Dice-K's wiltlessness.

"Given the opportunity to start on opening day, I did feel a little nervous and a little excited and that might have shown," said Matsuzaka, "I hope the fans from Boston, cheered on the wall for Ramirez strikes a winning pose for the Red Sox over the Oakland Athletics 6-5 on Tuesday night. Ramirez at the start, and Ramirez at the finish."

"Ultimately, it was a great moment."

The Red Sox outfielder Manny Ramirez admires a 2-RBI double in the 10th inning of Boston's 6-5 win over the Oakland A's Tuesday morning in Tokyo. It was the third time in MLB history that the season started outside the U.S.
Often against the Golden Eagles.

UCF pitcher Mitch Herold entered Sunday’s game against Southern Miss with a 15-inning scoreless streak. But he struggled early and happy to trade runs for outs.

ENGLEWOOD, Colo.

Denver Broncos wide receiver Brandon Marshall has an injured right arm and the NFL reported Monday night he could take several months to recover.

in a story published Monday, Marshall told the Rocky Mountain News he had slipped on a fast-food bag while vacating at a resort with his mother, father and siblings. He said there was nothing more to read into it then that and described his injury as “a little cut on my right arm.”

He repeated the explanation in an interview on satellite radio Monday.

The NFL Network reported Monday night, citing sevsources, Marshall had suffered an injury that peeled a vein and a nerve in his forearm along with tendons to five muscles.

The NFL Network reported Marshall was put in a splint for a month, the NFL Network reported, but he will be ready for training camp.

Neither Marshall nor his agent, Fletcher Smith, returned a phone message from The Associated Press on Monday night, citing no hip injury under the influence. A

Marshall was arrested in downtown Denver on suspi-nion of drunken driving on Oct. 22, hours after he caught six passes for 77 yards in the Broncos’ 31-28 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers at heenso Field.

Marshall blossomed into the Broncos’ best receiver last year, catching 102 passes for 1,325 yards and seven touchdowns.

Auditor series done with good reason

S Sometimes words have been twisted around so much that they have lost their meaning. According to the editor of the UF Student报 in an article about the new news source in Central Florida, we are being lied to.

Mr. Butler, I am afraid you have not done justice to the late Ereck Plancher. We all acknowledge that he was a great athlete and had a promising future in front of him. But to say he was a "biological weapon" is simply not true.

We should not be focusing on the person who made the criticism, but on understanding why the Florida Gators had to cut ties with Coach Muschamp. The reason was that he was not meeting the standards set by the university. It is not about playing for the Gators or the SEC; it is about integrity and academic standards.

I believe that Mr. Butler is trying to mislead us into thinking that the Florida Gators were not doing their job in selecting a new head coach. But the truth is, they did the right thing by cutting ties with Coach Muschamp.

We cannot let false information like this spread. We need to be careful with the words we use and the sources we trust. Only then can we have a true understanding of what is happening in Central Florida.

The Florida auditor series has been a good reason to do things differently. It has shown us the importance of ethical behavior and the need for transparency in our institutions.

Thank you for your article. I look forward to reading more about what is really happening in Central Florida.
